Ike Flirting with War, Khrushchev Says, Asks After-Election Summit

Tito and a Third Force

U.N. Conclusions: It is, without question, a puzzled, if unchastened Khrushchev, who sees himself temporarily slowed by the presently stubborn desire of the African nations for independence from both the great world powers.

That his old irritant, Tito Broz, also is benefiting, cannot but add to his chagrin. But Tito, as one of the pioneers in a "third force," neutralism, does find himself consulted and his prestige enhanced. Tito boldly took the initiative away from Khrushchev by speaking a day ahead and delivering an attack on Western foreign policy.

This is not without danger to Tito. Khrushchev cannot well permit him to gain stature as a Communist leader, more especially since he was the originator of do-it-yourself-communism. If the present masters of the Kremlin permit themselves the luxury of second guessing, they must indeed rate Tito as one of Stalin's major errors.

"I will crook my finger and he will fall," said Stalin contemptuously when Tito defected in June, 1948. But Tito is still around. Stalin had planned to keep Yugoslavia an agricultural nation, one of the satellites producing food for Russia. Today, Yugoslavia is well along as an industrial nation.

African Nations

The African nations, as they begin trying to become nations in fact and not merely in official designation, are determined to remain neutral. Nigeria, which joins them in October, will contribute the same moderate council. Whether they can or not will depend on luck and the ability of the United States to counter the Soviets.

Belatedly arriving is India's Nehru. It was he who first put into the language of diplomacy "the third force." He believes in it more strongly than ever. Nothing of Gandhi's nonviolence influence remains in India. He left the stamp of his morality on its policies. But India was ready to offer armed resistance against Red Chinese border aggressions.

In international politics, Nehru firmly will walk the "neutralism" line. He already has advised the New Afro-Asian nations to "steer clear" of both powers.

The smaller Asian nations lean toward this policy.

Moscow will not want to permit it, but we may in time see a real flowering of a third force group with the new African nations, Tito, India, and, perhaps, some of the Latin American countries trying to exert a common force.

That this might prove a strain on some of the Soviet satellites is certain. But that it would lead to attempts to emulate Tito is most unlikely. The wish would be there. But neither the means nor the will would be strong enough.

It Is Plain

All of this is plain to the Russians. They cannot avoid weighing it any more than the United States. It is already plain as the button nose on Mr. Khrushchev's face that the containment of the African nations' problems can come only through neutralism. He does not wish them contained.

This being true, we may expect to see the Soviets seek to counter Tito, and a third force, with all efforts to upset the economic and political stability of the new nations.

Nationalism has been defined as political, intellectual and physical exeesses in motion. Beset by problems of poverty, unemployment and lacks of all kinds, the political leaders of the African states may choose, when in difficulty, to ride the wind. None of them has efficient internal forces or administrative bureaucracies. The mines aren't worked, the schools don't function. Tribal warfare breaks out.

The Congo has provided a good example of what not to do.

The U.N. cannot administer nations. It stops with trusteeships.

But help can be given through the U.N.

And the Western powers, having got what might be called a second chance, cannot afford another failure. If orderly evolution of these nations into a third force is possible, then there may come solutions. If not, then the Soviets will win.

PRESIDENT OF UNITED ARAB REPUBLIC ARRIVES FOR ASSEMBLY

Nasser In NY, Will Meet Ike

By FOSTER HAILEY
(Copyright 1960, the New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK—President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the United Arab Republic arrived in New York this afternoon to attend the U.N. General Assembly.

He expressed the hope the sessions of the assembly would create a more favorable climate for establishing peace on a sound basis and said he brought warm greetings to the United States from the people of his country.

In Washington, the White House announced that President Eisenhower and President Nasser would meet Monday afternoon in New York. The President returns to the city that day to speak to a dinner meeting for Catholic charities. It will be their first meeting. More than 200 representatives of the United Nations and Middle Eastern, African and Asian nations greeted Nasser.

There were no hostile demonstrations at the field.

Nasser read a brief statement.

Nasser spoke his self-taught English with a slight accent.

"I am pleased that I have the opportunity to take part in the 15th session of the General Assembly of the United Nations," he said.

"I do hope that our efforts and the efforts of all those who have come here in quest of the

SATURDAY—No session.

SUNDAY—Prime Ministers Harold Macmillan and Jawaharlal Nehru due from Britain and India.

MONDAY—Assembly to consider agenda items, including Red China; Prime Minister Fidel Castro of Cuba due to speak; President Sukarno leaves Indonesia for U.N. session.

Vandiver Sets Up Aged Care Panel

Gov. Vandiver used his executive powers Friday to create a special study commission to map a tentative plan for Georgia's participation in the new federal Medical Aid for the Aging bill.

In an executive order setting up the commission, the governor named State Sen. Carl Sanders of Augusta as chairman and appointed 10 other members to serve with him.

Vandiver ordered the commission to draft a set of recommendations by Dec. 1 to be presented to the General Assembly for its consideration.

Under the medical care for the aging legislation adopted during the last session of Congress, states may cooperate with the federal government in a grant-in-aid progrem to help the states broaden their benefits to low-income aged persons.

The governor pointed out that each state is left to determine for itself the "extent and character of its own program, including (within broad limits) standards of eligibility and the scope of benefits and services."

His order directed the commission "to prepare an appropriate plan for the state of Georgia, outlining the extent of its participation.

Sen. Sanders and House Floor Leader Frank Twitty of Mitchell County were named as legislative members of the commission.

Others appointed include: J. W. Chambers, representing the Medical Association of Georgia; O. B. Hardee, Georgia Hospital Association; John T. Mauldin, Governor's Commission on Aging; John Burkett, Nursing Homes Association; Robert A. Rainer Jr., Georgia Dental Association; C. S. Hubbard, Georgia Department of Education; L. C. Butcher, Georgia Department of Labor; Ernest Davis, Georgia Department of Health, and Phil Cawthon, Georgia Department of Public Welfare.

Reds War On U.N., Says Herter

(Copyright 1960, the New York Times Co.)

NEW YORK—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter asserted Friday that Premier Nikita Khrushchev's speech before the U.N. General Assembly was "an all-out attack, a real declaration of war against the structure, personnel and location of the United Nations."

Herter was so irritated by the Soviet leader that he reacted at once by word and deed. What he said and did at that time was recalled by him less than an hour later when he spoke before the Foreign Press Association at a luncheon in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel.

ASKS CONFIDENCE VOTE

"Immediately after the speech ended," said Herter, "I went behind the rostrum to see the secretary general and Mr. Boland, the assembly president. My first question to them was whether or not under the rules of procedure it was possible to call for an immediate vote of confidence in Mr. Hammarskjold. I very much wanted to do this."

He was told, however, that such an intervention was impossible. A vote, to be taken, would have to be based on a resolution introduced through a complicated bit of parliamentary procedure.

PRESENTS CHECK

The secretary then said he had expressed his "gratitude for a very capable job done" in the Congo by Hammarskjold by producing a letter and check for $5,000,000. It was tht U.S. contribution to the U.N. force now operating in the former Belgian colony.

Herter disclosed that he had assured the secretary general additional funds would be made available, if necessary, as the situation developed. He said no decision could be made as to the total amount the United States is prepared to give; however, it would not exceed 40 per

Khrushchev's Plan Is Greeted Warily

By LINDESAY PARROTT
(Copyright 1960 by The New York Times Co.)

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—Western and "uncommitted" nations Friday took a reserved view of Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's speech before the General Assembly, suggesting new moves by the United Nations.

Western states condemned Khrushchev's statement as a declaration of "war to the death" against the world organization as at present constituted.

Few thought Khrushchev's suggestions that the secretary general might be superseded by a committee and that headquarters might be moved to Geneva, Vienna or Moscow would even get to a vote in the General Assembly.

Meanwhile, some Asian and African nations, assessing the Soviet approach, seemed to be backing away from the suggestions made by Khrushchev. Representatives of Ceylon, Tunsia and others felt that the attack on the secretary general would not be supported by most Asian and African nations.

One African spokesman called Khrushchev's speech a "Soviet blunder." An Asian said that he Urges U.N. To Move From U.S.

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, joining a mighty battle of personal diplomacy with President Eisenhower, denounced the U.S. leader Friday as risking World War III and urged that the United Nations be moved out of the United States.

Khrushchev threw a handful of shock proposals at the U. N. General Assembly's historic 15th session.

He suggested that the assembly rip its operating machinery apart, dispensing with the secretary-general's office and replacing it with a board of three members—one West, one Communist and one neutral.

3-STAGE PACKAGE

He proposed immediate independence for all colonial areas in the world.

He presented a three-stage package, most of it the old one in new wrappings purporting to look toward complete world disarmament.

And the Soviet premier repeated his bid for a new summit conference with Britain, France and the United States in "a few months," presumably after President Eisenhower leaves office.

WEST DISMAYED

Khrushchev's flurry of proposals appeared to leave many of the delegates bewildered, and some were concerned that he had set back rather than advanced the cause of easing tensions. As an Indian delegate—representing the "neutrals" to whom Khrushchev was appealing—put it: "President Eisenhower opened the door yesterday, but Khrushchev certainly slammed it shut today."

Among West European delegations there were expressions of dismay. The British summed it up by assessing the Khrushchev speech as having wrecked much of the chances for a start toward real progress on easing tensions at this assembly session. And Khrush-

$100 Million Job Given Lockheed, AF Affirms

Lt. Gen. Joe W. Kelley, commander of the Military Air Transport Service, said Friday the Air Force has "completely decided" to purchase 50 Lockheed C130E Hercules turbo-prop planes. The planes are manufactured at Lockheed's Marietta plant.

By telephone from San Francisco, where he was attending an Air Force Association convention, Kelley told The Constitution:

"There is no question that the contract for the 50 turbo-prop planes will be signed immediately. The Air Force also plans to purchase 15 to 18 pure jets, but Lockheed will have competition for this contract from Boeing, Douglas and Convair."

Lockheed officials said that when the 50-plane, 100-million-dollar order is received, it would be "follow on" production, with deliveries after the current C130B's now being manufactured are delivered to the Air Force.

The 50-plane order, therefore, will create no new jobs, they said, but may help stabilize employment.

U.S. Agrees to Debate On U2 and RB47 Again

By LAWRENCE MALKIN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States agreed Friday to another U.N. airing of Soviet charges on the RB47 and U2 plane issues despite an American charge that the Soviet accusations are "founded on falsehood."

The debate on the two planes, which were shot down by the Soviet Union earlier this year for alleged spying by their crews, was put on the agenda of the General Assembly by its 21-nation Steering Committee. The assembly will take up the question later this year at Soviet request.

The U.N. Security Council already has debated the case of the U2 and its pilot, Francis Gary Powers, and the case of the RB47 reconnaissance plane. The Soviet Union failed to win U.N. condemnation of the United States for sending the planes and took the case to the assembly.

U.S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth said the United States would not oppoes a new debate

Russell, Talmadge to Reveal President Choice Tomorrow

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — Senators Russell and Talmadge are expected to issue statements Saturday for Sunday's release stating their position on the November presidential election.

The two Georgians are among four Southern Democratic senators who thus far have withheld voicing their support of the national ticket of John F. Kennedy and Lyndon B. Johnson.

However, Russell and Talmadge have always remained loyal Democrats throughout their political careers.

Disaffection with the Democratic Party's liberal platform is not expected to be strong enough to make either of the two Georgians desert the ticket.

Both have denounced the party's civil rights platform plank. Both are friendly with vice presidential candidate Johnson, and Russell is known to have a great antipathy toward the Republican candidate, Vice President Nixon.

A tipoff to Talmadge's intentions is the fact that he will introduce Johnson at Macon on Oct. 14 when the Texas senator addresses Mercer University's law day exercises.

Also, Mrs. Lyndon Johnson is expected to be entertained by Mrs. Talmadge when the vice presidential nominee visits Georgia next month.

Talmadge has also voiced the opinion that the farmers of the nation would fare better under a Democratic administration than under the Republicans, whereas there is little difference between the civil rights planks.

The other holdouts among the Southern Democratic senators are Harry Byrd of Virginia and Strom Thurmond of South Carolina.

Meanwhile, Democratic campaign headquarters said there is "nothing definite" on Kennedy visiting Atlanta in October, but the spokesman added: "We're workin. gon it."

Georgia Invades Vandy as Tech Battles at Rice

Georgia seeks to regain confidence in the Southeastern Conference football race Saturday against Vanderbilt in Nashville, while Georgia Tech meets Rice University Owls in Houston. Both games are scheduled for 9 p.m.

Elsewhere in the SEC, Alabama tries Tulane in New Orleans, in another arc light affair; Auburn and Tennessee tangle in a roughhouse game at Birmingham Saturday afternoon and Kentucky and Ole Miss battle in Memphis, Tenn.

Outside the league, Florida hosts Florida State in an important intra-state rivalry; Mississippi State is playing Houston in Jackson and LSU has open date. Complete details in the sports section, Page 9.

It's Good for Ike, Khrushchev To Sound Off, Say Atlantans

Atlanta's man-in-the-street is vitally interested in the Eisenhower-Khrushchev speeches this week before the United Nations General Assembly.

Ten men interviewed Friday proved to be unanimously in favor of the meeting now in progress. Only on the ultimate consequences of these speeches did the men differ during a street poll at Henry Grady Square.

Asked if they believed the Eisenhower-Khrushchev speeches would bring the world closer to disarmament and an easing of world tensions, these were the answers:

By BARBARA MILZ

T. B. Monroe Jr., 1518 North Amanda Cir., NE: "I think if they are able to get together (and they haven't so far) Eisenhower and Khrushchev may be able to settle some disputes. We surely shouldn't give in too much!"

Virgil Tedder, 799 Virginia Cir., NE: "I don't think Eisenhower is going to agree to disarmament, at least in the form it was proposed by Khrushchev. I think Khrushchev lost out on the African deal in the Congo, and he's going to have to try to save face. We're going to come out of this stronger, as a world leader, than ever before."

Glower W. Jones, 953 Forrest Blvd.: "I doubt very seriously that these speeches will bring about disarmament. This is just a display of showmanship on Khrushchev's part, and he is a past master at that art. Eisenhower has been called on to do the best he can, and I think he'll be able to do it."

Emanuel Stein, 676 Bonaventure Ave.: "I really think these talks will help. It will get the nations to discussing their problems, and after Khrushchev sees the attitude of the other nations, he will have to go along with them. That 70-to-nothing vote the

N.Y. Gives Ike a Sendoff

NEW YORK (UPI)—President Eisenhower flew back to Washington Friday with the cheers of half a million New Yorkers ringing in his ears as Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev addressed the United Nations General Assembly.

The Chief Executive was in high good humor as he repeatedly stood up in his limousine to acknowledge the shouts of appreciation by well-wishers ranging from flag - waving school children to construction workers who lined his route from the Waldorf - Astoria Hotel to Idlewild International Airport.

Eisenhower chatted amiably with newsmen and police at the airport before taking off in an Air Force jetliner at 10:10 a.m (Atlanta time). The plane landed at Andrews Air Force Base at 11:46 a.m. and Eisenhower immediately boarded an Army helicopter which flew him to the White House, landing on the south lawn at 11:59 a.m.—seven minutes after Khrushchev began his lengthy address at the U.N.

The two men never so much as nodded to each other during the President's 27-hour visit to New York. During Eisenhower's "state of the world" address to the General Assembly Thursday, Khrushchev listened intently but did not join in the applause which followed the speech.

ENDS VISIT

Eisenhower closed his visit Friday morning by discussing Afro-Asian affairs with Togo President Sylvanus Olympio and Prince Mohamed Naim, foreign minister of Afghanistan. In all, the President conferred with 24 foreign dignitaries during his New York stay.

The throngs which turned out to cheer Eisenhower Friday were larger and noisier than those which greeted him Thursday. Police estimated that 400,000 persons shouted and waved to the President as his motorcade passed through Manhattan with another 100,000 cheering him as he passed through Queens.

RAISES ARMS

The Chief Executive beamed happily and raised his arms in the familiar victory salute in answer to the thundering cheers.

Khrushchev's motorcade followed Eisenhower's down Manhattan's Second avenue as far as 42nd street en route to the United Nations but the crowds that cheered and waved to the President minutes before stared coldly at the Soviet premier and remained silent.

Kennedy Rips Nixon For 'Insult'

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Sen. John F. Kennedy paid tribute to the Mormon people Friday night for having proved to the nation that a devoutly religious public servant was "still capable of undiminished allegiance to our Constitution and national interests."

Speaking in the Mormon Tabernacle against a background of controversy stirred in some areas over his Roman Catholicism, the Democratic presidential nominee identified the public servant as the late Sen. Reed Smoot of Utah. Smoot was an apostle of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints (Mormon).

Questions have been raised by some Protestants, including ministers, whether Kennedy, if elected, could remain loyal to his church and still fulfill his obligations under the Constitution.

Earlier Friday, in a Denver address, he rebuked Vice President Richard M. Nixon for his campaign tactics.

The senator said "personal attacks and insults" will not halt communism — or win the November election.

Kennedy said: "Many a great nation has been torn by religious feuds and holy wars—but never the United States of America. For there diversity has led to unity—liberty has led to strength.

"And today that strength—that spiritual, moral strength—is needed as never before."

The Democratic candidate said America has faced peril before and "we have faced many a dictator as harsh" as Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Reds Snub Powers' Father

NEW YORK (UPI) — Oliver Powers, whose son has been imprisoned in Russia as a spy, was turned away twice Friday in efforts to make a father-to-father appeal to Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev to release the flier.

Powers flew to New York Friday night to begin efforts to see Khrushchev and try to persuade him to relent.

Powers went first to the Soviet Embassy but was turned away at the door. Then he went to the United Nations, where an official refused his request for admission to an area where he might be able to accost Khrushchev.

Keep Cold War Out Of Africa, UN Asked

By GERALD L. STONE

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana Friday asked the United Nations to set up a Monroe Doctrine for Africa and make it out of bounds to the "suicidal" East-West cold war.

Nkrumah, dressed in flowing gold, red and green ceremonial robes traditional to the Gold Coast, also told the General Assembly that the United Nations Congo command should be changed "forthwith" for one that will support deposed pro-Russian Premier Patrice Lumumba.

His address, which demanded a permanent veto - power seat for Africa in the Security Council, U.N. recognition of Communist China, and creation of a nuclear free zone on the dark continent, won a thunderous ovation surpassing that given to President Eisenhower Friday.

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, who later went before the assembly with his own ideas for Africa, rose to his feet in applause, as did Cuban Premier Fidel Castro and all the Communist satellite delegations.

The American - educated Nkrumah, a huge gold watch shining incongruously on one berobed arm, appeared to reciprocate for the warm Communist reception later in the day. At that time Khrushchev had finished his speech and Belgium's Foreign Minister Pierre Wigny walked toward the rostrum to exercise a surprise "right of reply." Nkrumah stalked out of the hall with his delegation and that of Guinea, refusing to hear Wigny.

Nkrumah stressed that in asking for a new U.N. Congo command that would support the ousted Lumumba he "did not blame either the Security Council or any senior officials of the United Nations for what has taken place."

He said the trouble stemmed from a "confusion of goals," with the U.N. force making the mistake of trying "at one and the same time to preserve law and order and to be neutral between the legal authorities and the law breakers."

He added, however, that Belgium bore chief responsibility for the crisis and implied that Belgian intervention was responsible for the "fake" Congo government of Col. Joseph Mobuto, which replaced that of Lumumba.

Nixon Courts Farmers, Asks Bigger Soil Bank

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

SIOUX FALLS, S.D. (UPI)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon wrapped up his election year farm program Friday with a call for an expanded soil bank and revised price supports to prevent new crop surpluses.

Nixon dubbed his plan "operation safeguard" in a speech before the national plowing contest, traditional forum for the unveiling of presidential candidates' farm programs.

"Operation safeguard" represented the second half of Nixon's farm policy. In Guthrie Center, Iowa, last week, he advanced an "operation consume" program to reduce present farm surpluses. Friday's proposal was aimed at insuring that new surpluses will not take their place.

Nixon's six-point plan to lick the surplus problem called for:

1. 'A long-term price support system with levels based on an average of market prices over the immediately preceding crop years."

2. "Substantial expansion" of the soil bank program and perhaps legislation enforcing "a temporary cutback in acreage allotments of any price supported crop so heavily in surplus as to bring injury to that crop."

Under Nixon's expanded soil bank conservation reserve program, acreage could be retired from crop production under rental contracts of three to 10 years.

3. Mobilization of the rural development program to help small farmers learn better methods and increase their earning power through jobs off the farm.

4. Policies to "meet the cost-price squeeze headon" such as support of consumer cooperatives, searching for new markets, and strengthened credit facilities.

Mobutu Arrests 2 Congo Foes

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Forces of Col. Joseph Mobutu arrested two of Patrice Lumumba's most fanatical followers Friday but still hesitated to take direct action against the deposed premier himself.

Mobutu's men picked up Antoine Gizenga, deputy premier in Lumumba's government, as he left the official residence where Lumumba is living under U.N. military protection.

Maurice Mpolo, Lumumba's minister of youth and sports, was the second man arrested.

Mpolo appeared briefly in a general'a uniform in Lumumba's last chaotic days in power and tried in vain to swing the Leopoldville garrison to Lumumba's side.

Army authorities said Gizenga and Mpolo were arrested for plotting against the regime of army strongman Mobutu. They were linked with demonstrations at Camp Leopold III Thursday when some soldiers twice gathered around Mobutu's house to press demands for increased pay.

The demonstrators were dispersed when Mobutu's bodyguard fired shots over their heads. A few junior officers who had been seized as hostages by the demonstrators were released unharmed and order was restored.

There was no indication how Gizenga and Mpolo were involved. The demonstration showed, however, that some soldiers in Leopoldville—though generally obeying Mobutu's orders—are never far from mutiny and could not be trouble. This apparently is the reason Mobutu has failed to press an arrest warrant against Lumumba signed by President Joself Kasavubu.

Soviet Flop In Space Race Seen

SAN FRANCISCO, (UPI) — A top Air Force authority said Friday he believed Russia tried to put two men in space last week and "clobbered them."

Brig. Gen. Don Flickinger, director of bioastronawtics for the Air Research and Development Command, made the statement at the annual Air Force Association convention here.

Flickinger said that an unidentified object was tracked during the past week and apparently was intended to go into orbit.

He said it was his "speculation" that the Russians had two men aboard the vehicle and were attempting a space "spectacular" to coincide with Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's appearance at the United Nations General Assembly meeting.

Flickinger, in addition to his Air Force position, is a consultant in the Mercury man-in-space project of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

He was asked whether he thought Russia had tried and failed to put a man in space.

"Yes, I do," he said.

Rocket Downed U2, Pilot Quoted

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union claimed supporting evidence from Francis Gary Powers for the story that a Soviet rocket felled his U2 jet as it sped over the Urals at 68,000 feet on May 1.

The imprisoned pilot was quoted in a letter published Friday by Pravda, the Communist party paper, as saying he didn't feel any blow of a direct hit, but believes the plane was wrecked by the shock wave of an explosion that glowed as an orange burst in the rear "or maybe on the right."

Powers denied that he had ever told his father, Oliver W. Powers of Pound, Va., that his plane was not downed by a rocket, Pravda said.

The letter, addressed to the editor of the New York Times, concerned a news conference of the elder Powers in New York Aug. 25 after his return from the pilot's Moscow trial. Pravda printed a Russian translation of the text.

GENOA, Italy (AP)—Genoa police Friday seized gold ingots they valued at $192,000 hidden under the motor of a German-made automobile being shipped from Zurich to Colombo, Ceylon, aboard the liner Australia.

CAB Speeds Air Merger Showdown

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board Friday turned down motions it said would delay consideration of a proposed merger of Capital Airlines into United Air Lines.

A hearing on the merger application of the two carriers has been set tentatively for Oct. 19.

At a pre-hearing conference Sept. 15, Delta Air Lines, Eastern Air Lines, National Airlines, Northeast Airlines, and Allegheny Airlines asked the board to expand the merger proceedings into an investigation of air service to New York and other eastern metropolitan centers.

Denying this and similar motions, the board said that the proposed expansion could result in a remaking of the airline map east of the Mississippi River. It added that such an expansion of the proceedings "would be contrary to the board's long-standing policy of giving expeditious treatment to merger proposals."

Allies Unify, Strengthen NATO Army

By WILLIAM J. JORDEN

(Copyright 1960, the New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON — The North Atlantic allies have quietly taken three important steps recently to strengthen the command structure and military effectiveness of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Diplomatic sources here disclosed Friday:

1. Members of the Western alliance have agreed to establish a unified air defense command for western Europe.

2. The central Army group in West Germany, composed of American, German and French troops, has been transferred to NATO command and henceforth will be at the disposal of NATO land forces, Europe.

3. Arrangements have been completed under which French forces in Germany will be able to participate in the NATO system of nuclear weapons on the same basis as other NATO forces. This will permit assignment of weapons with a nuclear capability to the French troops outside France, a NATO-wide training program for those weapons, and joint exercises for troops with a nuclear capability within the NATO command.

Allied officials saw the three developments as significant contributions to NATO's authority and effectiveness. They considered the efforts to strengthen NATO as a direct result of recent toughness on Moscow's part, particularly the scuttling of the summit conference, renewed Soviet pressure on Berlin, and bellicose statements and actions in the Congo and Cuba.

Efforts to set up a unified air defense for Europe in the NATO command have been made for many years. They were frustrated primarily by the reluctance of the French to assign any of their air units to such a command. The reluctance reflected Preside reluctance reflected President Charles de Gaulle's insistence on preservation of what he has called "the national character of defense."

Because of French revervations, other countries have been less than enthusiastic about assigning their air defense units to the alliance. It has long been understood, however, that this reluctance would disappear if the French stand changed.

Now that a compromise has been worked out permitting the participation of France's air force and other establishments in the air defense organization, allied diplomats hope remaining barriers to unification in Nato may be reduced.

Details of the compromise agreed to by the French were not available here. It was assumed, however, that a French officer would occupy a high position in the new command. The air defense establishment will include not only interceptor aircraft but anti-aircraft units, ground-to-air rockets, and NATO's early warning systems.

The central army group, now added to NATO's ground forces, has betn a U.S. unit controlled by the U.S. forces in Europe headquarters.

REPUBLICAN CANDIDATE PRESENTS PETITION TO SECRETARY OF STATE
L-R: Bill Shartzer, J. L. Sund y, Sec. of State Ben Fortson

GOP Files to Duel Hagan in District 1

A Savannah businessman Friday applied to Secretary of State Ben Fortson for certification as a Republican candidate for Congress from Georgia's First District.

James L. Sundy, accompanied by State Republican Chairman William Shartzer, presented Fortson with petitions which he said contained some 6,500 signatures of registered voters in the district.

Under Georgia law, Sundy would need five per cent of the registered voters in the district to sign petitions for his certification. In the case of the First District, where there were 124,556 registered voters in the 1958 general election, the minimum needed would be 6,228.

Fortson said he would check the list of names against the official voters list to ascertain whether Sundy qualifies to make the race against Democratic - nominee G. Elliott Hagan. He said the process would take at least a day. Sundy said he had copies of his petition bearing about 1,500 additional names in Savannah "as a cushion" and Fortson said he would have to check with Atty. Gene. Eugene Cook to determine if he could accept the extra names if they were postmarked before Friday midnight.

Sundy and Shartzer said Republican Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona will speak in Savannah Oct. 3.

Democratic-nominee Hagan ousted Rep. Prince Preston who has represented the First District since 1946.

State Reveals Its Official Vote Count

Voters in 115 of Georgia's 159 counties gave a majority vote in favor of "free" (unpledged) Democratic presidential electors, an official tabulation showed Friday.

A straw ballot, not binding on the state's 12 Democratic presidential electors, produced 168,786 votes for unpledged or free electors and 136,070 votes for pledged electors.

Official tabulation of the Sept. 14 primary votes showed that Benning M. Grice of Macon won a State Supreme Court seat over Vance Custer of Bainbridge by six unit votes. Grice received a popular vote of 146,516 and Custer 144,735. Grice captured 164 unit votes against 158 for Custer.

In the only other statewide contest Ben T. Wiggins won renomination to the Public Service Commission by a wide margin over Franklin Rodgers. Wiggins won all of the 410 unit votes and a popular vote of 318,305 against 161,755 for Rodgers.

Police Seek Owner Of 35 Chained Dogs

Mrs. John Braund, director of the DeKalb County Humane Society, said Friday she would seek to obtain custody of a collection of 35 to 50 dogs found penned and chained.

Mrs. Braun said she had obtained a warrant for the owner, charging cruelty to animals. However, police said tht owner was not located immediately.

Police Capt. T. W. Smith said 35 to 50 dogs were found at a burned-out house near the Southeast Expressway and Pinola Road. "They appeared to be underfed and there was very little water available," Smith said in a written report.

No one was at the outdoor kennel, Smith said. He said he found a telephone nailed to a tree and a sign which read: "1,000 dogs — Stud Service."

Jobs, Jobless Increase In Georgia

Both employment and unemployment edged higher in Georgia last month, the State Labor Department reported Friday.

UP FOR YEAR

After dropping for three straight months, non-farm employment rose to 1,018,900 in the August reporting period, which ended just before the temporary mass layoffs for model changeover work at the auto assembly plants.

Thus, the statewide non-farm job total for the month was 8,000 higher than in July, and 1,400 higher than in August, 1959.

At the same time, however, the number of Georgians collecting unemployment insurance rose to 32,824, or 4.4 per cent of the insured labor force.

This compared with 32,005, or 4.3 per cent, in the preceding month, and 23,346, or 3.3 per cent, in August a year ago.

The seeming inconsistency of increases in both employment and unemployment last month is explained by the fact that layoffs in some plants added to the number of jobless eligible for compensation, while the overall employment increase included hirings of first-time job seekers in the state's constantly-expanding labor force.

MIDDLE-AGED AND NERVOUS

Gunman Locks Up 3, Robs Shop of $50

A middle-aged bandit late Friday robbed a West End auto service shop of approximately $50 and escaped after locking three men in a back room.

Frank Jones, operator of the Jones Auto Service at 1361 Gordon St., SW, had left for the day and carried most of the company money with him.

The balding gunman, in smoked glasses and sports clothing, appeared extremely nervous, Ralph L. Adkins, the night manager, told Patrolmen S. M. Guy and B. G. Patterson.

A customer, Bruce Keeter of 513 Langhorn St., SW, was in the station when the bandit entered and was placed in a room with Adkins and Olan Wayne Camp, 17, another employe.

Officers said Keeter had just cashed his pay check and had the money in a shirt pocket. The bandit failed to see the money.

Adkins said the man entered, asked to use the rest room and then asked directions to Highway 41, north.

"I started to tell him," Adkins said. "He whipped out a gun and said give me the bills. He said he wasn't kidding, for me to give him the money. He said he didn't want the change."

Adkins said he handed over a handful of currency from a cash drawer, mostly in $1 bills. He said the gunman ordered him and the other two into a back room and warned:

"Stay there until I leave and no one will get hurt."

Adkins said after hearing the auto motor start he managed to open the door and ran out to see the robber in a 1960 model Chevrolet pulling into Gordon street traffic.

Rev. King Fined $25 in Driver's License Case

Rev. Martin Luther King Jr. pleaded guilty in DeKalb Civil and Criminal Court Friday to a charge of driving without a state driver's license.

Judge Oscar Mitchell fined King $25 and gave him a 12 months suspended sentence on the driver's license charge, but dismissed charges of illegal registration when King showed a cancelled check for a tag registration fee.

Anti-Climax Was Mutual at Least

President Eisenhower's message to the United Nations did not quite match the moment. Nikita Khrushchev's was a failure.

Seldom has history placed two systems of government in the scales to be weighed so dramatically before a jury of the world. It was almost as if all peoples had stopped for a minute to examine their underpinnings. It was a time for greatness. Mr. Eisenhower's speech Thursday, while good, was general. It was not particularly inspired.

But Khrushchev's Friday tirade destroyed itself. He drew his usual effective picture of the dragon of colonialism. But when he chose to put two such shopworn swordsmen as Lumumba and Castro forward as the slaying heroes, he undercut his argument and almost made the dragon the sentimental favorite.

Then with singular bad judgment he attacked Dag Hammarskjold and the U.N. audience that had only recently voted confidence to Hammarskjold in his effort to keep Russia from grabbing the Congo. And Khrushchev, who was caught with his hand in the Congo cookie jar, went to great length to justify that abortive theft as a foundation of his argument for communism. In doing so he certainly must have courted the collapse of his entire argument in the eyes of African nations that had specifically condemned his Congo conduct.

At least Mr. Eisenhower did not try to justify the U2 again before this audience.

Khrushchev's performance was surprisingly inept. He may have damaged his African aspirations. He undoubtedly will turn hurriedly to the seating of Communist China, an issue that will get him more sympathy.

He quoted the African saying that one cannot wrap fire in paper. So long as he keeps Hungary and his other paper allies in the sack behind his back, he is hardly convincing as an anticolonialist anyway.

Now the moment is gone. The Eisenhower arguments were sounder. But neither he nor Khrushchev tipped the scales as they might have done.

Why Can't One Play When Other's Away?

It seems to us the letter elsewhere on this page concerning football verges on being intemperate in places.

We do share the curiosity as why Tech and Georgia must shape schedules that take both of them out of the state on the same weekend.

One way to improve attendance in Athens is to have Georgia scheduled there on a weekend when Tech is away from Atlanta.

All the difficulties of schedule-making are granted.

We still wonder.

More Interest Develops In Tax Reappraisals

The Coosa Valley Planning and Development Assn., composed of leaders of 13 north Georgia counties, thinks well of the idea proposed by Gov. Vandiver for state help in financing tax reappraisal studies.

The association adopted a resolution at its meeting yesterday at Chatsworth urging the governor and legislators to support tax studies by making matching funds available to counties willing to put up the other half.

This is further evidence that more and more communities are beginning to look to realistic tax reappraisals with more favor. More and more officials and ordinary citizens are beginning to realize that such reappraisals are in their own interests.

Tax equalization on a statewide basis not only would help the state but would benefit all counties and cities as well. In many instances such tax studies could be undertaken as joint city-county enterprises.

Those communities which already have undertaken reappraisals are pleased with the results. They are the communities, too, which look to the future with confidence instead of as a holding operation dependent upon handouts from the state.

PTA Has Heavy Stake In Future of Education

Mrs. J. R. Pinson Jr., president of the Georgia PTA Congress, has issued an appeal to 1,059 local units to make the Sibley Commission's report their principal area of study during the coming year.

There are 268,892 members of PTA groups in the state. They are a cross section of our citizens and represent those most directly concerned with the coming crisis, parents and their children.

The Sibley report and its recommendations offer an opportunity of saving Georgia's schools. From it could come legislation which would enable the state to accommodate itself to federal court rulings without ending public education.

Judge Hooper warned again recently that the problem is in the hands of the Georgia General Assembly. Yet there is no indication at all that its members intend to act. The Sibley report was all but ignored in the recent political campaign.

As time for decision nears, there should be more free and open public discussion. The PTA offers a forum for more than a thousand communities. Let all its units ponder the problem well.

What Are These Men Independent of and for?

There is a sort of pickrickian tone of unreality in the announcement that an "independent" slate of candidates is going to run in the DeKalb general election.

There is a strong suspicion that some of the initiative comes from a small group's dissatisfaction with the results of the Democratic Primary.

Certainly one-party Georgia needs contention in general elections, but voters must be on the alert for those never-say-die dissidents who would use the leniency of the qualification rules for independents as a means of forcing, in effect, two Democratic primaries.

These new candidates deserve the attention of voters only if they can show (1) what they're independent of (2) what they're independents for (3) that they're bona fide, responsible, serious candidates for public office and (4) that they have an issue that belongs more properly in a November election than a September one.

Byrnes' Brilliant Career Obscured in Bitterness

South Carolina's James F. Byrnes, now 81, is a man who doesn't forgive or forget. So the man Franklin Roosevelt called his "assistant president" Thursday announced his support of the Republican ticket.

The Democratic Party has been kind to Byrnes. It made him governor, U.S. senator, associate justice of the U. S. Supreme Court, war mobilizer and secretary of state. It depended upon him during the turbulent New Deal years. He was a good and loyal Democrat who wanted to be president.

His ambition was denied him when his party chose Harry Truman for the vice presidency, an honor Byrnes claims FDR had promised him. His bitterness began on that date and has not lessened with the years.

Byrnes says he is supporting the GOP because he doesn't like the Democrats' platform. But has he read the Republican document? Except for minute details they are much of the same pattern.

Byrnes could not pass up this chance to take a poke at FDR. He said he didn't want a president who first would have to say, "Clear it with Reuther."

Byrnes had a brilliant career. It is too bad that it must be clouded by his petty, embittered actions and words during his declining years.

Dr. Goodpasture Paved Way for Many Vaccines

Few men make so large a contribution to humanity as did Dr. Ernest W. Goodpasture of Nashville, whose death in retirement has closed out a notable career. In research circles, Dr. Goodpasture was internationally known. Yet, so modestly did he live, work and achieve, that few persons in the South knew of or about him.

It was while he was dean of the Vanderbilt Medical School that Dr. Goodpasture began medical research which paved the way for mass production of vaccine against typhus, influenza, small pox, yellow fever and many other diseases.

Patiently doing research in 1931 he hit upon the idea of using embryos from live chickens for cultivating viruses to be used in a vaccine for mumps. His success for a time received little attention. But within a few years it was nationally known and used.

Literally millions of American military men and women were immunized against many diseases in World War II because of his discovery. Dr. Goodpasture might, of course, have patented the idea and become enormously wealthy. He gave it to science. Almost every medical and research organization in the world has honored him.

He died of a heart attack, at 73, while raking the first leaves of autumn at his home in Nashville. He was one of the South's great contributors to science and humanity.

Firemen Turn to Bird-Watching

When you land at Atlanta airport now a fireman is watching you. He is sitting in a little green glass tower of his own atop the fancy new firehouse right out on the field. The big FAA tower atop the new terminal building is controlling your pilot. But the fireman is watching your plane.

The fire watch is kept in the little glass cage around the clock. A radio monitor lets the fireman listen in to your pilot's talk, so that he can hear trouble before he sees it.

A pair of binoculars enables him to see you better when you're within range.

And five pieces of fire equipment wait below him, ready to go at a touch of his finger on the gong.

The gong goes off down at the bottom of a green spiral staircase in the bunk room of his nine fellow firemen. Neat gray lockers stand at the heads of the colorfully spread beds in one big room. Down the hall on the way to the trucks, past a glistening galley and a neat mess hall, stand their fire boots in an orderly cupboard, each pair labeled by name.

The boots and the suits of these firemen are silvered with aluminum over an asbestos base. The bright aluminum reflects heat. And they are ready to wade into anything. It is reassuring to see this fancy new firehouse is closer to the runways than any other building. And it is reassuring to know that these firemen don't have to be summoned. They go with the gong, on their own.

Look for the new $12 million airport terminal to be opened in the first quarter of '61. Already a work elevator is being operated up and down the eight floors by a laconic workman who sits on a stool, leans back against a plank angled against the elevator wall, and punches the control buttons with a four-foot stick so as not to lean forward.

The lobby, the balconied dining room, and a carpeted, deep-chaired parlor for businessmen who want to pay two bits to sit down and work on papers, are going to be pretty. The featured wall advertisements will go to Coca-Cola and American Bell Telephone for a $10,000 per year contribution each to the public treasury. The automobile that turns on a concourse pedestal will cost its makers $12,000 annually to show.

It will still be a long walk out to the airplanes. Too many people got hurt on the moving sidewalk at the Dallas airport for Atlanta to copy that one. There is talk of ferrying people to the gates and back on elongated electric golf carts cruising right down the middle of the crowded corridors. The operator had better learn to cry "Fore." Or you may get smitten aft.

And as you taxi out, wave to your friend on top of the fire house. He controls enough foam to lather Hapeville.

'. . . You Can't Wrap Fire in Paper . .

President Scored In Two Ways

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.—President Eisenhower's speech to the United Nations was a master stroke both in the international and the national political arenas. In the international field, he committed the power of the United States to the United Nations and has put Khrushchev in the position of having to oppose the U.N. in order to oppose the United States.

In national terms, he provided an imaginative long-range program which Vice President Nixon can support with pride in the presidential election campaign and which Sen. Kennedy cannot oppose without great difficulty.

This last may have been incidental and maybe even accidental but the fact is that he has now given Nixon something more honorable to support than the easy tactic of saying that Kennedy's criticism of American strength and policy is a boon to Khrushchev.

The President played this country's strongest card. This is that the ideals and national interests of the United States are closer to the ideals and interests of the small nations than are the national interests of the Communist world.

The small nations look to the United Nations for their security: The President went further in offering to use American power through the United Nations than any other president in the history of this organization.

The small nations want aid from the rich and powerful nations without national intervention: He offered aid without intervention and proposed that the other big states do the same.

The small nations want more military power behind the United Nations: The President not only offered it on behalf of the United States but suggested that U.S. funds could be used to help defray the expenses of national forces held in readiness for U.N. use.

The President also opened the door to renewed negotiations on disarmament and other subjects and in effect made it possible to discuss returning U.S.-Soviet relations to where they were before the U2 incident and the abortive Soviet effort to subvert the Congo.

What the President had to say disclosed a great deal about the development of American foreign policy over the years.

It underscored for example a fact that even the United Nations is sometimes inclined to forget, especially during the hubbub of an American political election, namely, that whatever party is in power in Washington, there is a continuity in the development of American policy.

Over the years, this continuity has shown a growing support of the United Nations and an increasing tendency to work through the United Nations.

In the perspective of history this is of more than passing importance. It wasn't so long ago that the Republicans were laughing at Vice President Wallace for suggesting a "quart of milk for every hottentot in Africa." Now, as an indication of where we are the Republicans are suggesting that we not only feed them but send them to Harvard.

Arthur Krock

R. I. Foes Agree On the Platform

WASHINGTON—The historic independence of Rhode Island may account for the fact that its primary to choose candidates for the U.S. Senate occurs on the late date of Sept. 28. This deviation from the normal is typical of the state.

It is the smallest in the union, ratified the Constitution only by two votes, and after Congress threatened to sever its communications with the United States; and neither adopted nor observed the Eighteenth Amendment.

The briskness of the three-cornered primary there has reached a point of acrimony which impelled Sen. Pastore, whose term does not end until 1965, to make the following plea to a noisily divided group of Democrats a few days ago:

"I say here very frankly I don't like too much some of the things I have been reading in the newspapers . . . . They don't sound like they are coming from good, loyal Democrats. . . . There is no reason for Democrats to be tearing themselves apart. . . . Let's not have the scars we had two years ago (when a Republican was elected governor)."

The fraternal fracas which Pastore deplores was incited because two of the senatorial aspirants are refighting an old feud and a young newcomer is attempting an end run around them while so engaged. The veterans are former Gov. Dennis Roberts, whose candidacy has been endorsed by the state committee, and Howard McGrath, who is former almost everything distinguished in government and politics. Not only has he been governor of Rhode Island but Senator, solicitor-general and attorney general of the United States and chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

The young newcomer to politics on the grand senatorial level is Clairborne Pell of Newport, who has done notable service on major international commissions.

All three candidates appear to be united on the policies for the future of the country that were pledged by the National Democratic Party in its Los Angeles platform and on its criticisms of the Eisenhower administration. An expansion is Pell's own sensible blueprint of the platform's proposal for "a national peace agency."

He would shrink this into a State department bureau, headed by an undersecretary. This would retain the primacy of the secretary of state in the conduct of foreign affairs for the President.

Georgians Disagree on Whether Religion Should Be an Issue in Presidential Race

Ocilla — In one of your editorials you stated that "What some Italian Pope, long-dead, once wrote or said is not relevant. What Jack Kennedy, an American, says or does is." It seems to me that you are attempting to evade the issue with this sort of thinking. You are attempting to entirely segregate Jack Kennedy, Roman Catholic, and the Vatican. Very clearly, this cannot be done. Any Catholic is very intimately connected with the Vatican. They are subject to the Vatican.

The American people should be apprised of the very un-American things some of these popes have said, to which Jack Kennedy must subscribe, especially concerning the separation of church and state and religious liberty.

ELDER EMERSON PROCTOR.

Americus — I am not interested in politics and have no preference between Kennedy or Nixon. I am a little fearful, however, of the way in which the campaign is turning. If the Ten Commandments are to be torn apart and the teachings of the Bible thrown aside because one of the candidates for the presidency is a member of one church and another candidate belongs to another trend of religious thought, then I think it is time the American people as a whole begin paying more attention to teachings of the Bible. It is my opinion that the American people should pattern their lives after the Bible teachings and let religious preferences take second place in worldly matters.

Can't Tech, Georgia Coordinate Schedule?

HAHIRA — I know it is unreasonable to expect anyone connected with college football to have too much comprehension of higher mathematics but it does seem to me that anyone who has mastered something so complicated as the two-platoon system would be able to work out the schedules of two teams so that the State of Georgia would not have a Saturday like this one when the gridiron fan has no place to go.

If Butts and Dodd would spend less time doing their Laurel & Hardy act on the civic club circuit and more time coordinating schedules, the taxpayers of the state who are paying for the whole character-building business would at least feel they were getting something for their money.

Or is it too much to expect that the Jackets and the Bulldogs can ever agree on anything?

Alabaman Attacks Literacy Test Use

Tuskegee, Ala. — Recently I read an article concerning a judge in Georgia who condemned both an ignorant electorate (voters) and elimination of literacy tests for voters' registration.

I am not sure what the exact statistics are on the relationship between literacy and ignorance, but although I am certain there is a direct bearing of one on the that one is not necessarily the consequence of the other.

Some of the most deep sounding and practical philosophy I have heard in my life came from so - called illiterates: just plain farmers, country people, hoboes, indigents, no-bodies.

There are Southerners who want to hold up and hold back people because they say they cannot reason and vote logically if they cannot perform some form of literacy test. Recently the most ridiculous excuses were given for denying the vote to Negroes in Terrell County, Georgia, by persons representing the registrar's board, notably Charles Bloch. Some of the reasons given for denying their registration were that they put an "I" where an "E" should have been, or pronounced the word in this manner, or some other equally picayunish technicality.

Westward Ho By Whistle Hop

Out where the West Began: Westward ho, the waggin'! But let me back up and explain what brought on this working vacation on the Oregon Trail. If you are over 40, you remember Chautauqua. "Culture Under Canvas" — lecturers, magicians, yodelers, bell ringers, who came to the community in a tent when I was a boy in knee britches.

Change cut the ropes one at a time — the automobile, paved roads, movies. With radio, the final stay gave way and the tent fell in. Chautauqua smothered and died.

But a survivor crawled from under the collapsed canvas—a young man named Benjamin Franklin, with the spark and the never-say-die of the original B.F.

Ben's was the guiding hand that organized 300 dinner clubs now meeting monthly, fall to spring, from Alaska to Miami.

Most of those in the West are associated as Knife and Fork Clubs. Others are Executives' clubs or Dinner clubs .

Columbus has one, so do Maeon, Albany and Thomasville.

The bell ringers and the yodelers are with Ed Sullivan. But the dinner clubs have speakers—globe trotters, philosophers, soldiers, commentators, common columnists.

That's where they let me in.

So here I go, whistle-hopping—Salt Lake, Boise (the word means lots of woods), Wenatchee, Spokane and points south even to Hollywood.

Hollywood is where I expect the Lady Who Reads Over My Shoulder to catch up with me.

INFORMATION PLEASE: Which reminds me, Mrs. Buena E. Godfrey of Route 2, Woodbury, Ga., writes, "You keep talking about the Lady Who Reads Over Your Shoulder and The Redhead, but you never give their names. What are they?"

Well, Mrs. G.—and a happy 75th birthday to you! — the Lady Who Reads, etc., is Ira. She was named for an aunt who was named for an uncle. The Redhead is Susan, age 14.

NOT THAT BAD: Speaking of names, I saw a headline this week that shocked: "Iris Hybridizer Speaks to Society."

It wasn't really that bad. Her name wasn't Iris Hybridizer at all. She was a Mrs. Rogers, and she spoke on the cross-breeding of irises.

We All Believe In Many Things

On the dedication page of an anthology entitled "This I Believe" is a quotation by Joseph Fort Newton. I commend his words to everyone who wants to live a full and happy life:

"We must take time, take pains, have a plan, form spiritual habits, if we are to keep our souls alive; and now is the time to begin A man to whom religion is a reality, and who knows what is meant by 'the practice of salvation,' keeps his balance, because the living center of his life is spiritual. He cannot be upset, nor shaken.

"The same hard knocks come to him as to others, but he reacts to them by the central law of his life. He suffers deeply, but he does not sour. He knows frustration, but he goes right on in his kindness and faith. He sees his own shortcomings but he does not give up, because a power rises up from his spiritual center and urges him to the best."

These words were forged on the anvil of daily experience and they in turn became the measure by which Dr. Newton tested his wonderfully helpful and inspiring life of service to God and man. I think each of us must write down or at least think through some such credo by which we wish to live. Otherwise we are likely to live aimlessly, thoughtlessly, and without hope.

People of all ages often come to me and say that they don't believe. I ask them what it is they don't believe. "Well, I don't believe in God" or "I don't believe that life has any meaning or purpose."

I long ago discovered that it is best to let such persons talk. More than anything else, this world needs good listeners. When such persons tell me of life's trials and troubles and how they have been left bereft of anything they can believe in, I listen quietly and patiently.

Sooner or later, without suspecting it. they identify certain things or persons whom they do trust and believe in. I am confident that everyone believes, if only by short measure.

If each of us were to jot down in a list the things and people whom we have tested and trusted, we might be surprised that we do have beliefs and to these we may add many more.

Khrushchev Shocks U.N.

chev's proposals on revising the United Nations, some said, could wreck the world organization.

There was little conciliatory in Khrushchev's attack on President Eisenhower, based on the May 1 incident on the U2 spy plane. He said that since Eisenhower interpreted that incident as "state policy," the United States could at any moment "plunge mankind into a third world war." He demanded wide open discussion of the U2 incident and "aggressive" American actions in this session of the assembly.

CASTRO LAUGHS

Most delegates listened somberly as Khrushchev demanded a shakeup in the United Nations and its removal from New York. But Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro broke into delighted laughter when Khrushchev made his suggestions. The Soviet leader and Castro have been restricted in their movements to New York for security reasons.

"The United States restricts and curtails the rights of representatives of the various states," Khrushchev declared. "Facts are known, for instance, of representatives of young African and Asian states being subjected to racial discrimination in the United States and, moreover, to attacks by gangsters."

ASKED BOARD RULE

Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, under severe Soviet attack during the Congo crisis in which Moscow suffered a severe diplomatic reverse, listened impassively as Khrushchev demanded that the secretary-generalship be eliminated.

Khrushchev proposed instead a three-man board, made up of one each of representatives of Communist, neutralist and Western blocs. Then, he said, the U.N. executive "will really be a democratic body; it will really safeguard the interests of all United Nations member states."

SEEKS U.N. MOVE

"The question arises," he said, "of whether or not thought should be given to the choice of another locale for the United Nations headquarters — Switzerland or Austria might well be such a place for example. I can declare in all responsibility that if it should be considered expedient to house the United Nations headquarters in the Soviet Union, we guarantee the best possible conditions for its work."

The Soviet Union itself originally supported the location of the United Nations headquarters in New York in 1945. Khrushchev now proposes the entire elaborate $70-million plant, for which the United States supplied most of the money, be abandoned and a new start be made elsewhere, perhaps even in the U.S.S.R.

U.S. SAT TIGHT

Khrushchev's two hour and 20 minute speech of 18,000 words came one day after President Eisenhower had urged all nations to use U.N. machinery to the utmost to settle dangerous disputes. The Russians did not applaud when Eisenhower finished Thursday, and Friday the U.S. delegation, including Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, refrained from applauding Khrushchev.

As the Soviet leader stepped from the stage, Castro was on his feet, violently leading a chorus of applause from Communist satellite delegates. But a number of Latin-American delegates failed to applaud.

As Khrushchev left the stage, happily waving to the audience, he met Hammarskjold's icy stare. Khrushchev bowed with mock formality. The secretary-general gave no indication he noticed it.

Khrushchev's speech was accompanied by Soviet government "declarations" on his disarmament proposals, a draft disarmament treaty and a proposal for immediate independence for all colonies. African leaders studied the latter intently.

Preceding Khrushchev on the stage had been President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, a leading African figure, who called for the expulsion of all foreigners from African bases and demanded strictly African settlement for problems like that of the Congo. His speech left many European delegates unhappy.

Khrushchev, dressed in a natty, gun-metal gray suit, his steel-rimmed spectacles perched on his nose, often grew excited while he read his long speech, during which he consumed a whole pitcher of water. His voice rose and he gesticulated frequently.

He was excited when he came to his denunciation of President Eisenhower.

U2 INCIDENT

The question of the U2 spy plane incident, he said, was particularly significant since "the President of the United States, Mr. Eisenhower, himself declared the aggressive flights of American planes a normal business allegedly necessary for the security of the United States."

"At the same," he continued, "the U.S. government arbitrarily assumed the right to send such planes in the future. This is why, since the matter concerns the violation of sovereign rights of not only the Soviet Union but of other states as well, the question of the aggressive actions of the United States must be dealt with by the United Nations at its plenary session.

THREATENS WAR

"The continuation of such actions, and especially their interpretation by the U. S. President as state policy can at any time plunge mankind into a third world war."

Khrushchev claims that the U2 incident caused the explosion of the abortive Paris summit conference last May. The Soviet Union has imprisoned the U2 pilot, Francis Gary Powers, after a show trial. Powers' father, Oliver, from Pound, Va., was at the U.N. building Friday in an attempt to see Khrushchev in behalf of his son. Unable to talk with the Soviet leader, Powers returned to his hotel.

DANGEROUS GAMBLES

Khrushchev saved most of his dynamite for the latter part of his address. The long speech rambled over innumerable subjects, including a discussion of Soviet economic progress. And the details of his proposals on arms and the colonial areas were carried in the separate Soviet government declarations.

In an obvious bid for the support of emerging and developing nations, Khrushchev said the final burial of colonialism either would be peaceful or "accompanied by dangerous gambles by the supporters of colonialism who clutch at extreme measures."

"The events in the Congo are a fresh reminder of existing dangers," he said.

The Soviet Union suffered a defeat there when the African-Asian nations strongly supported Hammarskjold's handling of the U.N. intervention.

On disarmament, Khrushchev proposed:

1. Nuclear powers after 18 months would stop producing means of delivering atomic weapons on targets, would dismantle foreign bases, destroy stockpiles, withdraw troops from foreign bases, cut armed forces to 1,700,000 each for the U.S.S.R. and the United States, and reduce conventional arms with control "from beginning to end." But the proposal gave no details on control, the main barrier to East-West progress in negotiations.

2. The nuclear powers would ban mass destruction weapons.

3. Armed forces and armaments would be abolished except for police and militia forces upon which the United Nations could draw to preserve peace.

cent of the total made available by all participating countries.

The Russian's reference to colonialism, continued Herter, impressed him as "incitement to immediate rebellion by all colonial entities—it was an extremely inflammatory speech from that point of view."

He was handicapped, he added, because two documents were issued with the speech and these had not yet been read. "Therefore I have no comment on his offering," said Herter.

During the question and answer period, the secretary was asked what he thought of the speech by President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana Friday.

"It was bid for the left wing group of African states," Herter answered. "I have no idea whether he went out of his way to do this. If it was intentional I don't know. He was very definitely in what you might call the Communist camp."

Herter remarked that the Western powers were now discussing Moscow's harassing tactics in Germany. This, he said, was harder to understand in view of Khrushchev's apparent desire for a summit meeting.

"There may well be a deliberate attempt in advance of a conference to create bit by bit as large a cleavage as possible between West Berlin and the West German government," Herter said.

The outlook for progress in the Geneva Conference on Nuclear Weapons Tests, to be resumed Tuesday, was less gloomy, according to the secretary. Although points of difference are left to be settled on both sides, "until we reach final deadlock we remain hopeful," he said.

A questioner asked if the United States was planning to change its opposition to the admittance of Red China "in view of Afro-Asian friendship" toward Peiping.

"Only two countries, Guinea and Ghana, are in favor, so far as I know, but in any case we will not be changing our position," concluded Herter.

Khrushchev Cools Heels For Castro

By EDWARD McCARTHY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Unpredictable Cuban Premier Fidel Castro went to dinner with his new friend, Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, Friday night after keeping his host waiting on the stoop of the Soviet legation building for half an hour.

Wearing his usual army fatigues with open collar, Castro pulled up in his motorcade at 7:31 p.m. EDT. Khrushchev had been standing on the doorstep exchanging quips with newsmen since 7 p.m.

As Khrushchev waited for his tardy dinner guest, a reporter asked him if he felt like a bride waiting at the church.

"I was never in the condition of a bride," snapped the ruler of all the Russias.

Khrushchev put his arm around the bearded Castro and posed for photographers. Then they entered the building followed by Cuban Foreign Minister Raul Roa, who won a round of applause from the Soviet staff gathered inside.

Castro came down from his Harlem hotel in a six-car motorcade. All the cars were packed with members of the Cuban delegation, including Agricultural Reform Minister Antonio Nunez-Jimenez, and Army Chief of Staff Maj. Juan Almeida.

Most of those in the Cuban party were spruced up in business suits. Included among them was Capt. Ramon Valle, chief of Castro's bodyguard.

The Castro group had loaded the trunks of their cars with four boxes and three paper-wrapped packages — apparently presents for the Russians. The boxes looked suspiciously like Havana cigar boxes.

Vandiver Rips Back At Cravey

Gov. Vandiver leveled a stinging blast at State Insurance Commissioner Zack Cravey Friday, labeling as "absolutely false" a statement by Cravey that Vandiver had failed to supply legal counsel to defend him in a lawsuit.

The governor's office released a heated statement from Vandiver in which he said he had been shown a letter from the commissioner "in which he charged that I had failed to provide legal counsel to defend him in a Fulton Superior Court hearing Oct. 3 on automobile insurance rates." He said the letter was dated Thursday.

"This charge is absolutely false. Mr. Cravey knows it is false—it is simply a red herring being drawn across the path of truth in an effort to shift the onus of responsibility of his decisions onto others who had no part in making these decisions."

Suit was brought against Cravey by a group of underwriters in an effort to force the granting of an increase in automobile insurance rates.

Vandiver said Cravey has three members of the state attorney general's office assigned to defend him in the case and was notified of the defense early in the week.

Dairyman To Oppose Emmerich

Norman Turner, retired dairyman of Clarkston, registered with the DeKalb County ordinary Friday to oppose Democratic nominee Charles Emmerich as an independent candidate for commission chairman in the general election.

"I have extremely good financial backing for the campaign," Turner said Friday. "We expect to get a campaign rolling immediately. We are setting up campaign headquarters in different parts of the county."

MANNING WON'T BACK

Turner said he was counting on the majority of voters who voted for Emmerich's three opponents in the race to support him.

Friday, Brince Manning, one of three DeKalb district commissioners defeated in the race by Emmerich, said he was backing Emmerich.

"I pledged my support to him when I congratulated him (on the night of the Sept. 14 Democratic Primary)," Manning said. "I will cooperate with him as long as he has the interest of the people of the county at heart."

HARRISON WON'T RUN

Clark Harrison Jr., a commissioner who also ran against Emmerich, said earlier he had refused solicitation that he run as an independent against Emmerich.

J. O. Bowen, commissioner who finished second in the race, could not be reached for comment.

Turner said that he was not being supported by any of the commission chairman candidates.

THREE OTHERS ENTERED

Last year Turner ran second to Bill Evans of Stone Mountain in a 10-man race for Fourth District commissioner.

Three other independent candidates have registered, two Thursday. Harry Hart, editor of the weekly Suburban Sentinel, will oppose Rep. James Mackay, and Robert (Bob) Lane, social studies and art teacher at Southwest DeKalb High School, will oppose Rep. Guy Rutland Jr. The third candidate, A. A. Beauchamp, Atlanta attorney, registered months ago to run as independent for District One Commissioner. Jim Almand Sr., who won the Democratic Primary by a landslide, will be his opponent.

Antwerp Bans Von Braun Film

ANTWERP, Belgium (AP) — Antwerp's municipal authorities have banned showing of the film based on the life of rocket expert Wernher von Braun. Local patriotic organizations say Von Braun was responsible for construction of German V1 and V2 rockets which destroyed part of Antwerp and killed 7,000 persons.

copsolidation of peace may serve to create a more favorable atmosphere in which sincere and constructive steps can be made in establishing a peace founded on justice.

"This is the hope to which our people aspire and which we are certain is the hope of all peoples.

"I am also pleased at this first opportunity to visit the United States to bear you the greetings of the people of the U.A.R. to the people of the United States.

"If, on occasion, we have differed on American policy, we were nevertheless certain that the American people, who know the meaning of the struggle for independence and who were able to realize those great developments which have become an example for constructive achievement, can readily appreciate our struggle and its realities in spite of the obstacles of distance or any other obstacles."

Nasser then entered a limousine and left, with an escort of New York City police and his own security men, for the estate at 155 Middle Neck Rd., Sands Point, L.I., which he has rented.

but he added that the Soviet charges are "founded on falsehood—not a new falsehood but one that has already been exposed in the United Nations."

"They have refused to let the world look behind the story—to let the world see the facts," he said. This statement referred to a Soviet veto of a proposal to hold a U. N. prob of the RB47 case. Two RB47 fliers still are held by the Russians. Four other members of the crew are dead or missing.

The committee vote in favor of a Hungarian debate was 12-4, with 4 abstentions.

Khrushchev's Plan Is Greeted Warily

and his associates were "stunned" by the bitterness of the Soviet leader's attack and thought that the Russian chairman had "overplayed his hand."

Khrushchev, when he ended his address got more than one minute's applause, both from the assembly floor and from the galleries — indicating at least some support for his bitter attack both on the Western states and on the U.N. itself.

Later, however, delegates began to express doubts of his thesis that Secretary General Hammarskjold should be replaced and that the whole U.N. setup — particularly in Africa — should be revised.

One Latin-American delegate said the Soviet proposal to replace the secretary general was "absurd." He characterized the proposal as "impractical and dangerous" and "a propaganda piece."

Another Latin-American said that his contingent would do nothing to "cut Hammarskjold's throat" — as he interpreted the Soviet proposal. An African representative joined him in saying that the older states of Africa would not "reject the secretary general over a thing like the Congo."

A third, Gonzalo Ortiz of Costa Rica, called the Soviet speech "conciliatory," but only in the sense that the language was milder than some Khrushchev has previously used, and that his arguments regarding disarmament did not seem to rest on an "or else" basis.

Delegates were reluctant to comment on the disarmament plan that Khrushchev laid before the assembly. A U. S. spokesman said it would be carefully studied.

But representatives of other nations that participated in the 10-nation conferences at Geneva this summer held that it contained "very little new."

The whole question of a treaty, in advance of controls, and of "phased" disarmament, which would be subject to inspection only at a later stage, they said, was a familiar theme.

Sir Garfield Barwic of Australia commented:

"Mr. Khrushchev acknowledged that President Eisenhower's statement was conciliatory. That is right. The statement created a great opportunity for the Soviet to make a step toward closing the gap between the conflicting camps, but Mr. Khrushchev did not avail himself of the opportunity and one can only conclude that this was deliberate."

Several delegates pointed out that formal resolutions would have to be put before the assembly to give effect to Khrushchev's proposals. Both the Security Council and a special session of the assembly last week already have turned down proposals to releve Hammarskjold of his duties in the Congo.

Any such action by the assembly presumably would require a two-thirds vote as an "important" matter. Meanwhile, new proposals on disarmament, as advanced by the Soviet chairman, would have to go before the Disarmament Commission of the U.N., which has the same membership as the assembly. The commission then might recommend the resumption of negotiations by a smaller group, like the 10-nation committee that met in Geneva last summer and that was broken up by a Soviet walkout.

other day showed the other nations are behind us."

William M. Beard, PO Box 1969, Jackson, Miss.: "I think these speeches will help ease the tension to some extent. Khrushchev has sort of lost face in the Congo situation, and of course, he realizes it. He is a master at propaganda and plays on words, but I think the American people can see through him and his buddy, Castro. They both tried to make fools of America, but I think it is backfiring."

ALWAYS A HOPE

Henry C. Hewlett, 1891 Graham St., Montgomery, Ala.: "I believe the talks by these two will have more bearing on the situation than would talks by anyone else. There is always a hope the two may be able to get together and straighten things out on an honest basis."

Thomas Rhodes, 3100 Upchurch Cir., Montgomery, Ala.: "It appears Eisenhower and Khrushchev are going to have disagreements every time they get together, but the truth is that each time you see someone you become better able to communicate with him. The more they get together, the more they will be able to accomplish to ease world tensions."

George R. Sadler, 199 Norwood Ave., NE: "I don't think the speeches will do much towards disarmament, but any time the heads of countries can get together, it is a good thing. They are able to have an exchange of ideas and each gets a little better idea of where the other stands. There are definite benefits when they talk in front of representatives of other nations."

LEAD TO ARUGMENTS

Allen Davis, 500 E. Cleveland St., East Point: "I wouldn't think the speeches would do much for disarmament. Too often these things deteriorate into little more than a conversational basis for argument and accusation on both sides."

Jim Edee, 1851 Colland Dr., NW: "I haven't read too much about this, but I imagine it will be an opportunity to lessen world tension. It is a particularly good idea for the two to speak before representatives of other nations, for so many of these nations are looking to one or the other for leadership."

Pastors, Psychiatrists to Join In 2-Day Counseling Clinic

A pastoral counseling institute has been planned here for Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 3 and 4.

Sponsors are the Greater Atlanta Council of Churches and the Atlanta Association for Mental Health. Sessions, except, luncheons, will be at Grady Hospital.

The Rev. Thomas W. Klink, chaplain and coordinator of graduate studies in religion and psychiatry for the Menninger Foundation, will be special consultant for the institute.

Other institute leaders will include the Rev. Thomas H. McDill, professor of pastoral counseling, Columbia Theological Seminary; Dr. Rives Chalmers, psychiatrist, Atlanta Psychiatric Clinic and Chaplain Charles V. Gerkin of Grady Hospital.

Such subjects as "Thoughts on the Continuing Dialogue Between Religion and Psychiatry" and "Pastoral Counseling with the Physically Ill" will be covered during the institute, which will be held from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Monday, Oct. 3, and from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 4.

been set for Oct. 3 to 5 at Rock Eagle Camp, near Eatonton.

Registration of pastors will be from 3 to 6 p.m. Oct. 3. Dr. Thomas F. Chilcote Jr., pastor of the First Methodist Church, Maryville, Tenn., will speak four times on evangelistic preaching.

U.S. Praises 2 as Heroes Of Congo

Two U.S. Presbyterian missionaries from Atlanta have been commended by the American consul general in Rhodesia and Nyasaland for their help this summer in evacuating American citizens from the Congo.

Consul Joseph Palmer II, in a letter to the church's Board of World Missions, expressed his pride "both as an American and as a Christian" in the way the missionaries conducted themselves "under very trying circumstances."

Receiving praise for flying citizens out of the Congo was Dr. John Knox Miller, supported by the First Presbyterian Church.

Frank Vandegrift, supported by the Peachtree Road and Pryor Street Presbyterian churches, was lauded for his assistance with the communications problems encountered during the airlift.

Triangle Class To Banquet at Hotel Tonight

About 175 past and present members of the Triangle Class of the Inman Park Methodist Church is expected to attend its 20th annual banquet at the Dinkler Plaza Hotel at 7 p.m. Saturday.

BOOK REVIEW

A Plan for Rural Churches

WORKING TOGETHER IN THE LARGER PARISH. By James McLeod Carr. Church and Community Press. $1.50.

Reviewed by
LEO AIKMAN

The country store and the country schoolhouse have almost disappeared. The country church fights on.

"Working Together in the Larger Parish" is a manual telling how rural and town churches can cooperate through the "larger parish" to insure existence and to grow.

The author is a minister, since 1949 secretary of Town and Country Churches for the Presbyterian Church in the United States. He is author of "Bright Future," which presents a new day for the small church, and of "Glorious Ride," the biography of a great country preacher, Dr. Henry Woods McLaughlin.

The book-sized manual Dr. Carr has prepared is intended for all denominations concerned with strengthening town and country churches as effective agents in furthering the Kingdom of God.

The "larger parish" is a plan by which two or more churches in the same general community can work together to provide a better church program than each could have working alone.

The plan in detail is the work of a specialist in the field.

Presbyterian Bible Class Finds a Home With Its Episcopalian Good Neighbors

The Biblical admonition, "Love thy neighbor," is an easy one for the congregation of North Avenue Presbyterian Church.

Since they started building a church in 1898 North Avenue Presbyterians have found their neighbors extremely hospitable. While the building was under construction they were invited to meet in Merritt's Avenue Methodist Church.

Now in the midst of a big remodeling program, officers of North Avenue announced this week that the regular Monday night Bible classes conducted for 11 years by Dr. Manford Gutzke, will be held, beginning at 7:30 p.m. this Monday, at St. Luke's Episcopal Church.

The two Sunday morning services of North Avenue Presbyterian are held in the neighboring Tower Theater.

It's Revival Time Again For 3 Churches Here

Revival services begin Sunday at three Atlanta area churches, East Point Avenue Methodist, the Baptist Tabernacle and Decatur Heights Baptist.

At the East Point church the evangelist will be Dr. Mack B. Stokes, associate dean and Parker professor of systematic theology at Emory University.

Dr. Stokes will speak at both services Sunday and 8 p.m. each night through Friday.

Dr. Harold Sanders, pastor of First Baptist Church at Tallahassee, Fla., is scheduled to preach during the Tabernacle revival, with assistance from Dr. Miller Mikel, of the Baptist Sunday School, Nashville, Tenn.

Dr. Sanders plans to preach at 7:30 p.m. Sunday through Friday.

A painter and cartoonist, Dr. Mikel will draw pictures during the service, illustrating Dr. Sanders' sermon topics.

And at Decatur Heights Baptist Church the Rev. Marshall Vaughn, pastor of Lake Claire Baptist Church, will conduct revival services every night at 7:30 p.m.

Dr. Wesberry To Preach at Asian Bases

Dr. James P. Wesberry, pastor of Morningside Baptist Church, leaves Monday for a 40-day Protestant Preaching Mission in the Far East.

Dr. Wesberry will preach at five Air Force bases in the Orient, and visit Southern Baptist missionaries. The preaching mission is part of an all-faiths program sponsored by the Air Force.

While Dr. Wesberry is away, his father-in-law, Dr. Leon M. Latimer, of Greenville, S.C., will serve as interim supply pastor.

Lutherans Look At Life in South

By JIM BENTLEY

Visiting Lutheran ministers from throughout the United States met this week at the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer here to study the South and its ways. Reports from nine discussion groups were released Friday night.

A summation of one discussion group reported Lutheran witness must be "relevant to the cultural and social situations and structures of the South and, as need indicates, must stand in judgement of these situations and structures."

"No Christian ever works or lives apart from his responsibility as a Christian," the report declared. "Whatever the social and cultural situation, the Luthern witness must address itself publicity to injustice, prejudice, violence, or any violation of human freedom . . . and, as necessary, altering other structures and institutions of society to their true nature and purpose under the authority of God."

The more than 125 churchmen also heard that "Christian social responsibility must become a part of our dogmatics as well as our pastoral theology."

The Lutherans were in town to study every aspect of the social South, including segregation of various minority groups, retarded children and family guidance. They will report their findings to their home churches.

Peaceful Student Movements Backed

A pledge to "give all possible support to constructive student non-violent movements" has been made by the Council of the Lutheran Student Association of America, says the National Lutheran Council.

In a statement issued by the council, governing group of the L.S.A.A., the young Lutherans pledged "to do everything in our power to end effectively racial discrimination in the church and community." The statement called on all L.S.A.A. campus groups "and the many individual students affiliated with them to actively participate in the movement to end discrimination.

Campus groups were urged to acquaint themselves fully with the non-violent movement, establish study groups, desegregate, if necessary, their own groups, study ways of ending segregation in the churches, encourage Christian students to participate actively in non-violent demonstrations.

Don't Invite 'Bigot' Label

A ranking member of the Southern Baptist Convention complained this week to a group of Baptist executives, editors and lay leaders that Baptists face the problem of being labeled "bigots" by the rest of the nation.

W. Barry Garrett, associated director of the Baptist Joint Committee on Public Affairs, was referring to the religious issue in the current presidential campaign.

"Sometimes we might quite unintentionally make the impression of being bigoted, and our witness is damaged as much as if the charges were true," he said. "It is so hard to make ourselves understood. It is so easy to be misunderstood."

The dilemma of the "religious issue" in the campaign should cause Baptists to "pause and re-evaluate the situation," he stated. In his opinion, Garrett said, Baptists should "give more serious consideration to the Baptist image that is being created by their participation in the campaign."

2 Atlanta Women Chosen Missionaries to Brazilians

A native of College Park and her husband, and a former Atlanta nurse have received appointments to Brazil as missionaries from the Board of World Missions, Presbyterian Church, U.S.

They are the Rev. and Mrs. Lawrence Ervin Durr and Miss Betty Williamson. The Durrs and their two children will go to the North Brazil Mission. Miss Williamson will go to the East Brazil Mission.

Mrs. Durr is the former Patricia Anne Fiveash, a native of College Park, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Fiveash of Toccoa. She was educated in North Fulton High School in Atlanta and the University of Georgia.

Her husband, a native of Maryland, studied at Columbia Theological Seminary in Decatur. He is a former pastor of Memorial Park Presbyterian Church, Gainesville, and presently is serving in Anderson, S.C.

Miss Williamson, a native of Brazil, served as a nurse in Atlanta hospitals from 1956-59.

GEORGIA NEWS ROUNDUP

GBI Asked to Look Into Fish-Killing

SWAINSBORO—The State Game and Fish Department Friday asked the Georgia Bureau of Investigation to make a full inquiry into a fish kill in the Ohoopee River near here.

The department said there was evidence that a toxic chemical was used to kill an estimated two-and-a-half tons of fish in the river about five miles from Swainsboro.

J. D. Atchinson, chief wildlife ranger in the area, said two suspects are under investigation. He said the men are believed to have dumped rotenone, a chemical which paralyzes fish, into the river.

Atchinson said he and other rangers uncovered a 100-pound sack of rotenone in the water and quoted a witness as saying he saw the two suspects in the area where the fish were killed.

Among the fish killed were numerous amounts of bream, catfish and red bellies.

Atchinson said he expects to make some arrests soon.

Negroes Won't Reply In University Suit

MACON — Attorneys for two Negro applicants to the University of Georgia Friday said they will not file responses to pleadings in federal court here because such procedure would delay the possibility of a ruling by Monday, when the university opens.

The state briefs contend that applicants Hamilton E. Holmes and Charlayne Hunter did not complete standard registration procedures and have not supported their assertion that the school has a policy of excluding Negroes. But the attorneys for the Negroes said, "There is enough in the record for the judge to rule."

Train Slams Truck, Killing Driver, 22

AUBURN — A 22-year-old Sycamore Negro was killed when his tractor-trailer truck was hit by a Seaboard Air Line freight train at a crossing Friday. Vivian Harriel Rte. 1, Sycamore, was killed when the train hit the cab of the truck, knocking it 75 feet down the track.

British PW Vets To Hear Ex-Foe

LONDON (AP) — Twenty-five British veterans—most of them wartime prisoners of the Japanese—will go to a tiny northern parish church Sunday to hear an address by a young Japanese curate.

He is the Rev. Shigeo Kanoh, 30, of Hiroshima, known locally as Father John.

Dixie Campers Hold 4-Day Meeting Here

The Southeastern section of the American Camping Association began a 4-day conference Thursday at the Piedmont Hotel.

Camp leaders are here from Georgia and the Carolinas to discuss the topic, "Resources—Natural and Human."

Principal speakers are Stanley Michaels of Detroit, Mich., president-elect of the American Camping Association, and Dr. Noah Langdale, president of Georgia State College.

Lawyer Told To Explain His Absence

An Atlanta attorney was directed Friday to file within a week an explanation of why he did not show up in court on time Friday morning to resume the trial of a case in Fulton Superior Court.

Judge Durwood T. Pye gave the direction to attorney Dan Copeland, telling him to file "an explanation of why you absented yourself" from court from 9:30 a.m. Friday until about 1 p.m.

Copeland was defending William F. Jones on automobile larceny charges Thursday when a jury was selected and two witnesses were placed on the stand. Then the trial was recessed until 9:30 a.m. Friday.

When Copeland did not appear Friday morning, the judge asked both the defendant an Assistant Sol. Gen. Tom Luck Jr. if they had heard from Copeland. When they said they had not, the judge directed a deputy sheriff to telephone Copeland.

The deputy telephoned Copeland at 10:29 a.m. He said Copeland told him the telephone call woke him up.

When Copeland appeared, Judge Pye directed him to file the explanation "by Friday of next week" and then advised him that he had appointed E. Lewis Hanson, the judge's former law clerk to assist him in the trial.

Commissioners Ask Vote on Annexation

The question of whether the Sandy Springs area should be annexed to Atlanta ought to be left up to the people in the area, Fulton County's three commissioners said Friday.

In their first comments about the matter since Atlanta Mayor Hartsfield revived the annexation question, Commissioners Archie Lindsey, James H. Aldredge and Carlyle Fraser all said the matter should be decided by a vote of the people affected.

Annexation was brought up as the commissioners took up two other matters — police protection and sewerage.

On recommendation of Safety Director Clarence E. Mitchell, the commissioners voted unanimously to impose 35 miles per hour speed restrictions on all county roads—except state highways—in the area from the Atlanta city limits north to the Chattahoochee River.

Commissioners Aldredge and Lindsey declared they feel too stringent restrictions by the Health Department on installation of septic tanks or "dry sewers" are hindering the county's growth.

Thomas A. Cantrell, Health Department director of engineering, said the Health Department is requiring subdividers to install "dry sewers" in proposed streets in areas where future installation of sewerage disposal facilities of proposed by the county.

But Commissioner Lindsey said the Health Department is holding up approval of septic tanks for much R-3 type residential property by stringent requirements.

Lindsey pointed out that the Sandy Springs area developed rapidly because builders were allowed to install septic tanks and that is why the area is now coveted by Atlanta. He said the area of 5,500 homes is "something to be proud of."

Baird Directs GOP Publicity

Joseph H. Baird, veteran political writer and editor, has been appointed public relations director for the Lodge-Nixon campaign in Georgia, Republican officials in Georgia announced Friday.

A native of Texas and graduate of Southern Methodist University, Mr. Baird served for many years with United Press International. He served for eight years as news editor and political columnist for the DeKalb New Era.

'Bored' Boy Vandals Tear Up 4 Churches

Two small boys who said they attended church and Sunday School regularly were charged Friday with repeated raids on churches in College Park and Clayton County.

The two—aged 10 and 11—were quoted, "we just didn't have anything to do."

Lt. E. E. Peppers and Sgt. S. M. Gaston of the College Park Police said the two told of four destructive raids on the Clayton Baptist Church in College Park and similar raids on the Liberty and Flat Rock Baptist churches in Clayton County.

Officers said the latest raid at the Clayton Baptist Church occurred Sunday night. They said the youths broke up several hundred dollars worth of equipment, smashed window panes and broke pictures. They said the first three burglaries were not reported to police.

E. D. Williamson, an investigator for the Clayton County Police, said the two admitted three raids at the Liberty Baptist Church and one at the Flat Rock Church.

Other small boys who had seen the two about the damaged churches gave police the tip which resulted in the arrests.

The youths were turned over to Clayton County juvenile authorities.

(The names of accused persons under 17 years of age are withheld in accordance with the Georgia Juvenile Court Law.)

Driver, 17, Hurt as Car, Truck Crash

A laundry truck driver late Friday was critically injured in a truck-automobile crash at Peeples and Beecher streets, SW.

Robert Eugene Butler, 17, of 1209 Green Springs Rd., College Park, was admitted to Grady Hospital with a possibly fractured hip and possibly internal injuries, patrolman J. C. Ward said.

Ward said Butler's truck, driven north on Peeples, collided with an automobile driven west on Beecher by Martin V. Smith, 74, of 1670 Westwood Ave., SW. The truck overturned, hurling Butler out, and was believed to have struck him, Ward said. The patrolman said Smith was charged with overrunning a stop sign and accident.

Food Men Hold Clinic Today

Jake Maxwell, district sales manager of Curtis Publications, will be the featured speaker at the first annual Southern Frozen Foods Association sales clinic at the Dinkler Plaza hotel Saturday.

Maxwell will discuss "The ABC's of Selling and Prospecting." Other speakers will include Lee Swepston of W. I. Anderson and Co., Greensboro, N.C.; J. H. McCready, Blue Water Seafoods, Cleveland, Ohio; Norris R. McGowan, Birdseye Frozen Foods, Chicago.

PICKRICK SAYS I HAVE LEARNED

a lesson. For thirteen years we have advertised in the Atlanta Newspapers. The Pickrick was the first regular advertiser (restaurant or other business) to advertise in the Saturday edition of the local dailies. The Pickrick started such advertising when Atlanta dailies had only twelve pages in their Saturday edition, and today there are twenty-four pages. For almost a decade of this time we have been privileged to have our ad placed on page two, where our readers could easily find same, but last week I reamed out the Atlanta Newspapers for some editorial policies I do not agree with and I found the Pickrick ad 'way back in the paper on the obituary page. So from now on if I disagree with the newspaper it will not be mentioned in one of my ads.

BEST NEWS YET

was in Atlanta papers last week (Friday) that told of an Alabama minister (one of the love-'em and mix-'em variety) who had headed an inter-racial (integrationist) society. He was given a new assignment by the church governing body, and accepted only after being told to either accept or turn in his credentials. Now what makes his assignment different is that it is in Southern Rhodesia (Deep Africa) and I'm guessing that this minister who has been calling for a little integration will get a belly-full of integration before he gets back to the U. S. Not only that—I'm guessing that when he gets back he will probably join the Alabama White Citizens Council or maybe make Imperial Wizard in the KKK. In any event, if he gets back (hope he is not made an entree on a luncheon menu in Africa) he will probably make one of Alabama's most ardent segregationists. (I am wondering if Southern Rhodesia may be in need of several more race-mixing ministers and maybe a newspaper columnist or so.)

SPECIAL TONIGHT

ORDER OF PICKRICK SKILLET-FRIED CHICKEN 25c

Drumstick and thigh served right from the skillet (in our cafeteria department only).

$20,000,000.00

in Bonds, for schools, is a lot of money, but if needed I would be the last to oppose same. But by the time they decide on school bonds the city and county will be looking for $50,000,000.00 or more in new bonds and the people who own real estate will be saddled with another 30 years' tax burden.

ARE SCHOOL BONDS

really necessary? ($20,000,000.00 that is). According to the newspapers it looks as though the Negro population increase requires the $20,000,000.00 in school bonds (21 overcrowded Negro schools and 23 decreasing white schools), but why not wait and see what happens in the event of integration. If integration does come, there might be enough empty white schools to care for the rapidly increasing Negro students, and if so it could save the taxpayers $20,000,000.00 in taxes (plus interest).

CONFUSION AT ELECTION

time did not cause "pledged" electors to lose, but had there been no confusion "pledged" electors would have lost by a greater margin. And as a court house friend says, "Had 'pledged' electors won, prominent political figures and the newspapers would probably have called it a mandate from the people. But since "Unpledged" (Free) electors won it is called a "straw vote" that really has no meaning."

The Saturday Forecast

HOUSTON—A Houston sports writer wired our office this week requesting a football story on Georgia Tech, featuring some member of the Engineers other than Stan Gann. The man pointed out that they already had heard enough about Gann.

They'll hear a lot more about him Saturday night in Rice Stadium when Georgia Tech tangles with the Owls. Blanton Collier of Kentucky will vouch that Gann is one of the finest sophomore quarterbacks to grace the Southeastern Conference in many years.

Outlar

Tech has competent quarterbacks in Gann and Marvin Tibbetts, and senior Walter Howard is a handy insurance man. There seems to be considerable doubt whether Rice has one stickout quarterback.

Bo Hagan, former Tech assistant, has been perhaps the busiest coach on the Rice practice field. He's the quarterback tutor and of late Billy Cox has been the No. 1 student. They say here that Rice had planned to go with 210-pound senior Al Hartman, the lone seasoned signal caller on the squad. But Hartman has failed to pan out in fall practice, and Cox, a red-shirted sophomore, is slated to start his first game for Rice.

Observers insist that Cox must pass the test if Rice is to atone for last year's 1-7-2 campaign. They're confident that the Owls have the defense, and it's up to Cox to crank the offensive motor.

Halfback Bob Wayt is the glamour boy in the backfield. He's a 185-pound junior with exceptional speed, and some say he will be the Owls' best ball carrier since Dickie Moegle.

—Tech Picked To Riddle Rice, 21-7

Rival Southwest coaches vow that Rice has the toughest interior line in the league and the King brothers, center Boyd and guard Rufus, are two of the reasons. It's going to be extremely difficult to run over Rice this season, and Georgia Tech isn't likely to try.

Coach Bobby Dodd hasn't uncovered his game battleprint, but I expect Gann to fill the air with passes. Chick Graning, Billy Williamson and associates are apt to run wide in the early going.

They ran inside, outside and over Kentucky in the impressive 23-13 spanking of the Wildcats last week. But Dodd and his staff aren't expecting to shove the burly Texans around.

This is the curtain raiser for the Owls and launches Jess Neely's 21st season as Rice head coach. Neely, who has been coaching since 1924, experienced his worst year in 1959. He's eager to get off on the right foot against the fast-moving Engineers.

Due to the stiff Rice line, Tech is only a six-point favorite. I think the Engineers are two touchdowns superior to the Owls. Here's a 21-7 ballot for Tech.

Both Tech and Georgia are engaged in night fights this week. The Bulldogs, anxious to rebound from last week's 21-6 loss to Alabama, are taking dead aim at Vanderbilt.

This is a "must" game for the Bulldogs. Another setback and the defending champions will be out of the running in this year's SEC derby.

Alabama's hard-nose defense and penalties mounting to 135 yards stalled the Georgia offense last week. Quarterback Francis Tarkenton had his greatest day on the yardage meter, however, clicking for 152 yards via 15 completions in 31 pitches. But Tarkenton connected only once in the jackpot zone, and the running game was futile.

—Bulldogs and Vols in Winner's Circle

Coach Art Guepe maintains that Vanderbilt is stronger than a year ago when Tarkenton and Fred Brown led the Bulldogs to a 21-6 triumph in Athens. Guepe says he has more backfield depth than ever before, but he does not have Tom Moore.

The Commodore lineup is sprinkled with Georgians, including Capt. Fred Riggs, a talented end from Valdosta; halfbacks Thom Garden and Matt Howard from Atlanta.

Steady senior Russ Morris quarterbacks the Commodores and soph Dave Longley is the leading pitcher. Soph Hank Lesensne of Atlanta is a reserve signal caller.

Loss of safetyman Bill Jackson damaged Georgia's defensive plans, but Coach Wallace Butts appears to have mended some of the gaps in the Bulldog line. Georgia will move the ball on Vandy and if the defense makes a respectable showing the Bulldogs figure to walk off a winner. A high-scoring contest appears on tap. Georgia is the pick by a 21-14 margin.

Auburn and Tennessee collide in the SEC headliner in Birmingham, and both teams have been hard-hit by pre-season injuries. Ed Dyas, the Plainsmen's version of the league's best fullback, won't dress out. Guard G. W. Clapp is out for the season, and several other players are on the wounded list.

Tennessee Coach Bowden Wyatt claims that Auburn doesn't have as many ailing troops as the Vols. Fullback Baracca won't play, and blocking back Jim Cartwright is doubtful. Several other Vols are listed as borderline performers.

Legion Field won't be any spot for an unhealthy warrior, for this is annually one of the South's fiercest head knockings. Tennessee is my nominee as the most improved team in the conference. The Vols haven't scored a touchdown on Auburn in three games, but they won 3-0 last year. Glenn Glass appears to be the tailback Tennessee needs to make the single wing roll. Tennessee is the choice by a score of 17-10.

THE OTHERS: Florida 21, Florida State 10; Mississippi 28, Kentucky 7; Mississippi State 14, Houston 7; Alabama 20, Tulane 6; Wake Forest 27, Clemson 20; South Carolina 7, Duke 0; Texas 21, Maryland 14; Arkansas 28, Tulsa 0; Notre Dame 34, California 12; Michigan 20, Oregon 14; Ohio State 18, SMU 6; Purdue 14, UCLA 7; Iowa 20, Oregon State 7.

TCU 14, Southern Cal 0; Wisconsin 35, Stanford 20; Baylor 21, Colorado 13; Columbia 20, Brown 13; Army 22, Boston College 0; Cornell 14, Colgate 7; Harvard 27, Holy Cross 19; Rutgers 10, Princeton 7; Navy 35, Villanova 7; Illinois 20, Indiana 13; Kansas 35, Kansas State 14; Missouri 21, Oklahoma State 7.

Owl Line Poses Rugged Test for Tech

By JESSE OUTLAR
Constitution Sports Editor

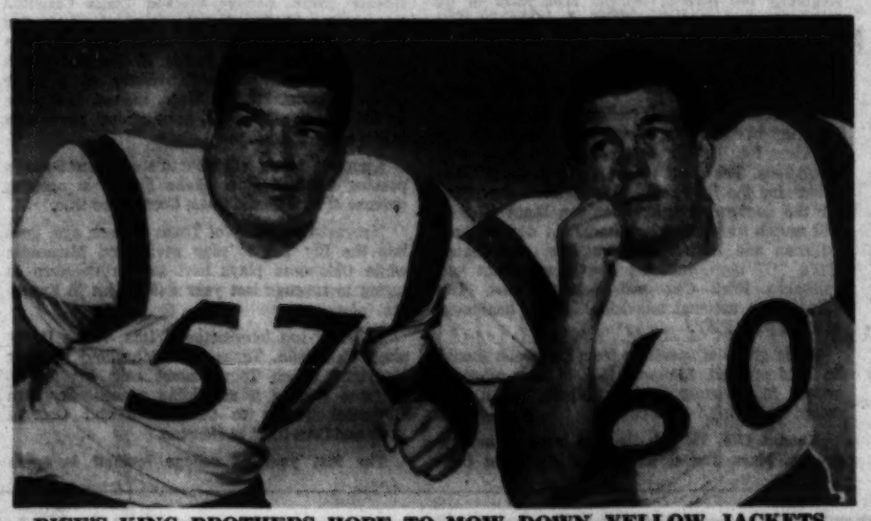

HOUSTON—Out here in king-size Texas, where the extraordinary is considered routine, the natives were startled Friday afternoon when Georgia Tech made a two-platoon landing at the airport and unloaded a traveling squad of 171.

A swift glance at the lineup assured the Texans that no more than 50 football players were getting off the two planes. The others were coaches and members of Tech's family party. Once a year Coach Bobby Dodd takes along wives of players and coaches, athletic department officials and a few staunch boosters.

They hope to see the Engineers spoil Rice's football premiere Saturday night in the first match ever between these Southeastern and Southwest Conference foes.

Some 50,000 fans are expected for the 9 p.m. (EST) kickoff, and the weatherman has promised warm and clear weather. Ten stations in Georgia (WGST in Atlanta) and 17 in Texas will air the game.

The oddsmakers believe the Tech family will have something to shout about, for the Engineers are six-point favorites. They feel that the remodeled Tech offense previewed against Kentucky last week will be too potent for Rice to handle.

RICE'S KING BROTHERS HOPE TO MOW DOWN YELLOW JACKETS
Center Boyd (L) and Rufus 'Kingpins' in Owls' Forward Wall

But the Engineers are in for a thorough test, for the rugged Owl line ranks with the best in the Southwest. Anchored by the King brothers, center Boyd and guard Rufus, Rice figures to match Tech up front where it counts.

In the backfield, however, Tech appears to have an edge, and that's why the Engineers are going to post as the favorite.

Rice has no quarterback to compare with Stan Gann or Marvin Tibbetts, and the Chick Graning who played against Kentucky should be the best running back on the field.

Gann, a young man with a plan and a golden arm, may come out pitching and keep pitching until Tech wins or loses. If the Rice line troops are as tough as advertised, Tech will have to ride its new air corps.

Rice also has some hosses, and junior halfback Bob Wayt is the boy Tech must halter.

St. Louis Clings To Flag Hopes

CHICAGO (AP) — The second-place St. Louis Cardinals clung to their slender pennant chance Friday, taking a double-header from the Chicago Cubs 5-1 and 5-1 with the finale called because of darkness after seven innings.

The pacesetting Pittsburgh Pirates met the Milwaukee Braves in Milwaukee Friday night. The magic number in the pennant race remained 2.

Although the Cardinals held a 3-1 lead after five innings, the abbreviated finale was sewed up when Ken Boyer, who hit a second inning homer, slammed a two-run triple in the seventh.

After Card pitcher Ray Sadecki blanked the Cubs in the bottom of the seventh, the umpires called the game in the settling dusk.

The opener produced Ernie Broglio's 21st victory which was backed by Bill White's three-run homer in the third inning.

Sadecki, winning his ninth against eight losses, scattered five hits over the seven inning route.

NY Rips Bosox; Magic No.'s 4

BOSTON (AP) — The New York Yankees, rushing toward their 10th pennant in 12 years under Casey Stengel, brushed aside Boston 5-1 Friday and reduced their magic number to four.

Second-place Chicago kept its hopes alive with a 7-0 victory over Cleveland, while Baltimore fell six full games off the pace, losing to Washington 4-0.

The Yankee victory, which came on a five-run eighth inning explosion, was their seventh in a row, matching their top winning streak of the season.

Any combination of four New York victories and Chicago losses will insure the Yankees the flag. New York has 8 games to play, Chicago 7 and Baltimore 6.

The Yankees, handcuffed for seven innings by Billy Muffett's 5-hit pitching, bided their time and waited for the break.

It came in the eighth. They hopped on it, and didn't let go until five runs had paraded across, and Muffett and Boston's ace relief man, Mike Fornieles, were in the showers.

Pinch hitter Jesse Gonder led off, and reached first on shortstop Don Buddin's throwing error. Tony Kubek sacrificed him to second. Hector Lopez doubled in a run. Roger Maris singled in another. Mickey Mantle walked. Bill Skowron's bad-hop single, his fourth hit of the day, drove in another, and singles by Yogi Berra and Bob Cerv produced two more.

That was more than enough to wrap up Bob Turley's ninth win in 12 decisions.

Bulldogs Slim Pick to Snap Vandy Jinx Tonight at 9

Tarkenton in the Saddle, Opposes Commodore Morris

By AL THOMY
Constitution Sports Writer

NASHVILLE, Tenn.—Georgia's road back wends into a first-class jinx here Saturday afternoon.

The Bulldogs hope to forget that Alabama thing last week with a decision over Vanderbilt in the 9 p.m. (EST) Southeastern Conference game here. They have been reminded that they have had absolutely no success on Dudley Field since 1952 when Jimmy Campagna returned a punt 100 yards to lead a 19-7 Georgia victory.

Oddsmakers, however, side with the Bulldogs. They are giving Vanderbilt and three points. Some go as high as four.

A forecast of clear and partly cloudy, with temperatures ranging from 60 to 75, is good news for both teams since each depends on an explosive attack based on backfield speed and maneuverability instead of power.

Quarterback Francis Tarkenton, who had his best passing day ever in the Alabama defeat, will again be at the controls for the Bulldogs, flanked by left half Fred Brown, right half Bobby Walden and fullback Bill Godfrey.

A dry track would certainly enhance the chances of Brown and Walden to break clear for substantial yardage. Second unit halfback Bill McKenny showed in the Alabama game that he, too, is a Bulldog threat.

Coach Wally Butts of the Bulldogs gained a back and lost another for this game.

Quarterback Dale Williams, a pre-season casualty, is ready for limited duty. Sophomore halfback Bill Jackson, who returned a punt 78 yards to set up the only score last Saturday, was one of three Bulldogs suspended for infraction of training rules, and he, along with tackle Richard Brooks and center-tackle Bobby Allen, remained in Athens.

Vandy, like Georgia, is expected to open a two-pronged attack from the kickoff. In quarterback Russ Morris, the Commodores have one of the best all-around field generals in the SEC. He runs and passes, but most of all, he defends. Last year he was credited with five interceptions, so it is natural to assume Tarkenton won't throw in his direction.

Bobby Nay, a destructive run-

Braves Slow Bucs' Waltz, 2-1

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Milwaukee slowed down Pittsburgh's pennant drive Friday night, turning back the Pirates 2-1 on Del Crandall's bad hop run-scoring single.

The Braves' victory, snapping a six - game Pittsburgh winning streak, trimmed the Pirates' National League lead to six games over the still breathing second-place St. Louis Cardinals.

St. Louis, battling to stave off what appears to be the inevitable, sliced a full game and a half off Pittsburgh's lead by inflicting a pair of 5-1 defeats on the Chicago Cubs in an afternoon doubleheader.

Crandall's game-winning hit decided a fine pitching duel between Pittsburgh's George (Red) Witt and Milwaukee's Bob Buhl.

Chuck Cottier, Milwaukee's .233 hitting second baseman, ignited the winning rally with a humpbacked single to short center. Buhl sacrificed and Witt appeared to have pitched himself out of a tight spot when he disposed of Billy Bruton on a grounder to second base and induced Crandall to hit a routine bounder to Dick Schofield.

The Pirates' shortstop charged in but the ball hit the edge of the infield grass and hopped high over his head. Schofield managed to get his glove on the ball but could not hold it and it went for a single, scoring Cottier with the run that broke a 1-1 tie.

The battling Pirates, who 28 times have come from behind in late innings to turn defeat into victory, almost did it again in the eighth.

An error by Milwaukee third baseman Eddie Mathews on pinch hitter Mickey Vernon's soft liner and Bob Skinner's single put Pittsburgh runners on base with one out. Roberto Clemente, after fouling off several vicious drives, slammed a hard grounder to Felix Mantilla and the shortstop whipped to Cottier to start a snappy doubleplay.

Buhl, en route to his 15th victory against nine defeats, retired the Pirates in order in the ninth,

OLD MISS, WASHINGTON FAVORED

NATIONAL CHAMPION SYRACUSE ROLLS INTO ACTION TODAY

By JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Defending national champion Syracuse opens a new season and such battle-tested aspirants to the throne as Mississippi and Washington play again Saturday as college football moves into its second big weekend.

None of the three figures to be seriously tested.

The Syracuse Orange, winners of 11 straight after last year's 10-0 season and Cotton Bowl victory, meets undermanned Boston University. Coach Ben Schwartzalder's lads are just as power-packed as a year ago, and are missing only halfback Mark Weber, out with a knee injury. BU lost to Penn State 20-0 in its opener a week ago.

Mississippi, after demolishing Houston 42-0 with a devastating air attack that put it No. 1 in this week's Associated Press poll, plays Kentucky Saturday night at Memphis. This begins the Southeastern Conference schedule for Ole Miss, now a strong favorite after defending titlist Georgia was knocked off by Alabama last week. Kentucky fell before Georgia Tech 23-13 in its opener.

Third-ranked Washington meets Idaho and could have a repeat performance of its decisive 55-6 victory over College of the Pacific last week.

The rest of the nation's top 10 have some interesting battles. Illinois and Michigan State, co-favorites for the Big Ten crown, get busy with tough foes. The Illini (No. 4), under Coach Pete Elliott for the first time, play Indiana, ineligible for the conference title. Michigan State (No. 6) will match its crackerjack backfield duo of Gary Ballman and Herb Adderly against once-beaten Pitt's "C" boys, fullback Jim Cunningham and halfbacks Fred Cox and Bob Clemens. The game is on national television (ABC), beginning at 12:30 p.m. EDT.

A big group of upsetters from last week should be hard pressed. Alabama (No. 5) goes after its second SEC victory against Tulane, which surprised California 7-3 a week ago.

Kansas (No. 7) with its best team in over a decade, plays Kansas State in a Big Eight Conference game. Kansas shocked Texas Christian last week and should make it a bit easier this time. UCLA (No. 8), which upset Pitt, will have another battle on its hands at Purdue, which may be a little sub-par because of a large group of sophs. Oregon State, ranked 10th after its upset of Southern Cal, goes against Iowa, also in the rebuilding stage.

Clemson, ninth, will have to stop Norm Snead's passing when it faces Wake Forest in opening defense of its Atlantic Coast Conference title.

Nebraska, upsetter of Texas a week ago, goes into the Big Ten to play revitalized Minnesota while Oklahoma plays host to Northwestern in trying to revenge last year's 45-13 loss in Evanston.

In other top intersectional tilts, Notre Dame plays California. Texas is at Maryland in what Maryland Coach Tom Nugent calls his team's supreme test of a rebuilding season. Southern Methodist travels to Ohio State and Georgia Tech and Rice meet in Houston.

The 91st year of college football is again commemorated at Princeton when the Tigers meet Rutgers—another clash of the two schools that started the whole business back in 1869.

Army plays Boston College and Navy meets Villanova, both service teams going after their second victory. Air Force opens against Colorado State University.

Rallying Warriors, West Fulton Roll

By RED MULLINS

Bass High's Warriors came from behind to edge O'Keefe Irish, 18-14, and West Fulton's Owls came from all directions to wallop East Atlanta's Wildcats, 46-12, in a City League doubleheader at Grady Stadium Friday night.

Guard John Edwards crashed in to block Buddy Bankenship's third-down punt with only three minutes remaining and end Jo Jo White recovered the ball in the end zone to give Bass its victory.

Just about everybody who wore an Owl uniform—eight, in fact—got into the West Fulton scoring act in the lid-lifter rout. Halfback Bobby Hampton was the only Owl who crossed the double stripes more than once. His touchdowns were on runs of 11 and 19 yards.

The deadly duo of Blankenship and end-halfback Winfred Bailey kept the Irish in contention to the end. They connected on five passes for 129 yards and one touchdown, a 32-yarder.

Blankenship scored the other O'Keefe TD himself from the one after passing 61 yards to Bailey, who was tripped up one yard short.

Bass countered immediately on a one-yard touchdown keeper by quarterback Joel Cooper after he had passed 40 yards to end Joey Mons. The Warriors failed to match O'Keefe Wayne Carey's PAT, and trailed 7-6.

Bass narrowed the margin to 14-12 late in the third when Larry Kilpatrick crashed over from the one, then won the game in the final minutes when Edwards blocked the Irish punt and White recovered it in the end zone.

Blankenship and O'Keefe still were not through, moving the ball through the air quickly to the Bass four. Kilpatrick's interception killed the bid as the game ended.

Stobbs 4-Hitter Tops O's

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lefty Chuck Stobbs pitched his first complete game in more than three years Friday night as he shut out Baltimore on a five-hitter 4-0 and put Washington back into fourth place in the American League race.

Billy Gardner had a perfect night with a double and three singles, helping drop his former teammates from Baltimore six games back of the legaue-leading New York Yankees.

Wynn Shutout Keeps Chisox Hoping, 7-0

CLEVELAND (AP) — Burly Early Wynn kept Chicago's fading pennant hopes alive Friday night with a seven-hit shutout as Ted Kluszewski drove in three runs with a homer and a single in a 7-0 victory over Cleveland.

The triumph left the White Sox 4½ games behind New York. The Yankees' magic number for the American League pennant is four.

MURPHY'S LARRY GREENE (L) WAITS FOR PASS THAT NEVER ARRIVED
Southwest's Al Stovall Steals Wayne McDaniel's Heave in 2nd Quarter

Wolves Nip Eagles On Carson Passes

Murphy Finally Falls, 14-13, In Battle of Big Gamblers

BY CHARLIE ROBERTS

Moonlight gamblers from Southwest and Murphy high schools threw the football and caution to the winds Friday night, and the Wolves threw two sevens to pick up the blue chips, 14-13.

Murphy's Wayne McDaniel, playing with a 7-0 losing hand since late in the first quarter, fired two go-for-broke fourth period touchdown naturals and put himself on the long end of the odds, 13-7.

But John Carson had a few aces up his own right jersey sleeve and dealt the Eagles a final losing hand with derring-do and only a minute and seven seconds left.

Carson, who had completed only one of four passes for one-yard gain until his Wolves fell behind, hit six of seven for 61 to Tommy Lewis, Al Torbush and Steve Limbo to spearhead the 79-yard winning rally.

And, like McDaniel in the successful Murphy drives, Carson dared disaster to strike by throwing and hitting a key pass while deep in his own territory on fourth-down.

The Cheney Stadium book will record that the narrow victory in this City League classic was won on the two perfect extra point place kicks of center Steve Slay.

But the drama was all wrapped up in the gambling duel of McDaniel and Carson, the flying heels of Murphy's Mike Fisher and Southwest's Limbo, Carson and Paul Jenkins, plus a brutish give-no-quarter line battle.

Limbo streaked 45 yards around end to highlight an eight-play 87-yard surge that put Bob Greer's charged-up charges on top by 7-0 in the first quarter.

That scintillating romp put the

Ailing Tigers Test Vols' New Offense

Alabama Takes on Tulane; Florida and FSU Collide

By JACK WILLIAMS

Auburn's defensive giants, who operate on the theory that "touchdown" is a dirty word, hope to sidetrack Tennessee's new single wing express at Birmingham Saturday afternoon.

And the Tigers are favored by three points to succeed, despite the loss of top fullback Ed Dyas and No. 1 guard G. W. Clapp.

Auburn Coach Ralph (Shug) Jordan, disagreeing with the oddsmakers, moaned Friday, "The doctor tells me we may be able to use Dyas to kick an extra point. But I doubt seriously we'll score a touchdown."

Birmingham fans thus will be treated for the second straight week to the Southeastern Conference's Game of the Week. Last Saturday, Alabama used Legion Field as a battleground in its 21-6 victory over Georgia.

The Crimson Tide moves on to New Orleans for a Saturday night date against rugged Tulane. Other conference games send Kentucky against Ole Miss at Memphis and Georgia against Vanderbilt, both at night.

In non-conference outings, it's Florida against arch-rival Florida State at Gainesville in an afternoon test, and Mississippi State against Houston at Jackson and Georgia Tech against Rice at Houston, both at night. LSU has an open date.

One interesting angle in the game at Birmingham is the fact that both Auburn and Tennessee, noted for defense in the past, have promised jazzed-up offenses. Many experts, however, still predict a low-scoring game.

Tennessee stalwarts Jim Cartwright, a blocking back, and tackle starter Don Cissell, who were doubtful starters early in the week, have been pronounced ready to go.

Tulane, surprising 7-3 winner over California a week ago, must find a way to contain an Alabama offense which erupted for three touchdowns in nine minutes against Georgia. This one, too, is expected to be a low-scoring battle.

Ole Miss rules a heavy favorite to smash Kentucky and add victory No. 2. The Rebs cut down Houston, 42-0, last week, while Kentucky was losing to Georgia Tech, 21-13.

The Florida-FSU game could shape into a battle of sophomore quarterbacks. The Gators have high hopes for Larry Libertore and Bobby Dodd, Jr., while the Seminoles will count on Eddie Feely to help beat new Florida coach Ray Graves in his second game.

Georgia's Choice Over Vandy By Four Points in Night Game

ner, opens at full for Vandy, with Atlantan Thom Garden and Ed Creagh at halfbacks. No Tom Moore there, but Coach Art Guepe calls them adequate.

Guepe has an experienced front row crew headed by center Cody Binkley, an all-SEC sophomore last year, and Capt. end Fred Riggs, native of Valdosta, Ga., considered the best Vandy terminal blocker in 10 years.

The Georgia line has undergone change since it yielded to Alabama's charges. Soph Guard Wally Williamson has replaced Roy Betstill on the right side, with Betsill moving over to provide relief for Pat Dye on the left.

Stubby Don Tomberlin replaced Ray Clark at left end only to fall back because of a jammed neck. Trainer Sam Richwine says Tomberlin will be available for spot duty.

Butts asserts the defense must show more than it did against Alabama for the Bulldogs to outplay Vandy. "If we play the same way, Vanderbilt will score four touchdowns on us," he said Friday.

Guepe admitted he had some good sophomores to test in this, his opener. "We believe they are good football players," he said.

Vandy leads the overall series (13-8-1), but Georgia holds an edge (4-3) since the rivalry was renewed in 1952 after a lapse of 21 years.

OWLS PRESENT STIFF TEST FOR JACKETS' OFFENSE

They compare him with Dickie Moegle out here, and Moegle was merely the best runner Rice ever had.

Quarterback is the big question mark as veteran Coach Jess Neely unveils his 21st Rice edition. Billy Cox, a burly 190-pound soph, who was redshirted last season, has drawn the starting assignment. And if he doesn't get the job done, senior Al Hartman, a disappointment in practice, will get another chance.

Neely, who has been a head coach since 1924, has won 177 games—more than any other active major college mentor—but he won only one last year. Twenty-nine players who lost seven and tied two in '59 are still on the scene reinforced by a bright crop of sophs, and they're anxious to atone for Neely's worst season.

Probable Lineups

GEORGIA TECH	Pos.	RICE
Burch (191)	LE	Burrell (180)
Shaw (231)	LT	Woods (233)

Graning (188)	LH	Wayt (175)
Williamson (160)	RH	Webb (184)

The contest marks the first duel between Neely and Dodd as head coaches, and it's the kickoff game of a four-year pact between Rice and Tech.

Dodd harbors pleasant memories of his last junket to Houston in 1946 when Tech whaled St. Mary's, 42-19, in the late Oil Bowl.

After Tech ripped Kentucky in sensational style, Dodd was elated but uncertain whether the Wildcats were an accurate yardstick. He'll be able to appraise his offense more accurately Saturday night, for Rice will take a determined stand for defense.

Reds Sign Hutchinson For 1961

From Press Dispatches

The signing of Freddie Hutchinson to another one-year contract as manager of the Reds at Cincinnati Friday was no surprise, but a statement by General Manager Gabe Paul gave the routine event a new twist.

"In my opinion," said Paul, "managers get too much blame when they lose and too much credit when they win."

Paul added, however, that he thought Hutchinson had done a good job this season despite the Reds' sixth-place finish in the National League.

The first "crucial" game in 4-AAA West, simultaneous bids by Marist and Brown to scissor three-game losing strings and an attractive "intersectional" duel between Wayeross and Benedictine feature Georgia's high school football card Saturday night.

South Cobb and R. L. Osborne, surprise contenders in 4-AAA, come to grips at Smyrna's Campbell Stadium at 8 p.m. Osborne has ripped past Smyrna, 13-7, and Griffin, 20-13, on successive week-ends to take over as a solid contender.

In Atlanta proper, Marist and Brown collide at Grady Stadium with three-game losing streaks hanging around their necks; and Smith and George go at it in Cheney Stadium. Both have 7:30 p.m. kickoff times.

Both Waycross and BC are unbeaten and favorites in their respective AA and AAA regions. In other Georgia games, it's Central of Thomasville at Lowndes County, Screven County at Dudley Hughes and the Savannah Country Day at Claxton "B" team in a daylight affair.—ATKINSON.

Tucker Slams S. Hall, 52-7

Special to The Constitution

TUCKER — Tucker romped in every quarter here Friday night to wallop South Hall, 52-7, for its third straight win of the season. Robert Fowler and Jim Wilson scored two touchdowns each to lead the winners' attack.

Thomas-Led Gordon Ties with Cross Keys

By JOHN SPENCE

Ronnie Thomas, a 129-pound quarterback, spurred Gordon to a 7-7 tie with Cross Keys by leading a fourth-quarter touchdown drive, which Stanley Logan capped with a six-yard dash.

Allen Stanton kicked the all-important extra point.

Cross Keys scored first in the second quarter after recovering a fumble on the Gordon 10. Larry Kirkman scored in three plays from the seven and Manor Farmer ran over the extra point.

Thomas rushed for four of the first six Gordon first downs and was a threat all night, gaining 53 yards in 10 carries.

Guard Ronnie Campbell was a defensive stickout for the Gordon team.

Panthers' White Sinks Decatur, 7-0

Passes for Only Score Of Game in 2nd Quarter

By PAUL ATKINSON

Little Jack White, the kid with the big foot and big arm, got his kicks in more ways than one Friday night in leading Southwest DeKalb High School to a 7-0 victory over Decatur in a tense 4-AAA East thriller.

White's screen pass to halfback Skipper Smith on a clutch 4-and-7 situation produced nine yards and the lone touchdown late in the second quarter, and his booming punts, four sailing better than 41 yards, keyed the whole night for a crowd of better than 4,000 at the Panthersville Stadium.

It was a sweet win for slender White, for he once attended Decatur. The win was the third in a row, second straight by a TD.

Dewey Alverson's Panthers fough with their backs to the well most of the evening, but it was mostly because of their own making. Decatur managed only four first downs and repeatedly failed to cash in golden chips.

The brightest opportunity came with less than five minutes to play. Linebacker Reece Bowen shot the gap, and blocked White's punt at the Southwest DeKalb 25. White fell on it at the Panther six.

Prosperity was too much for the anxious Bulldogs. Skipper Smith's brother, Jack, claimed quarterback Joe McGhee's fumble at the eight.

McGhee's bobble, snared by sideback Phillip Moon, set up the touchdown at the 15. White rolled out for three, failed on two passes then hit the big one to Skipper and it was simple with a cordon of four blockers. Ronnie Chapman booted the point-after with 2:21 left in the period.

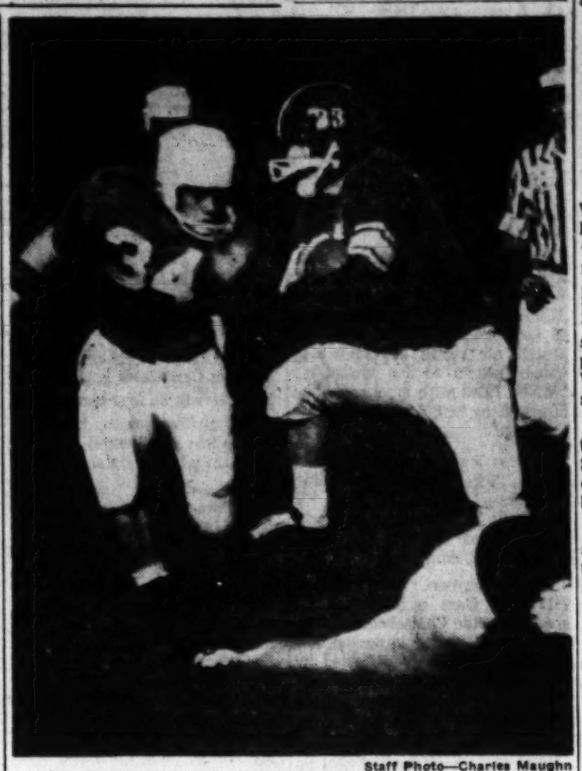

Chapman, a rugged 200-pound tackle, intercepted two passes, recovered a fumble and made nine tackles in a glittering evening.

Guards Herbert Byerly and George Manners, Bowen, tackles Danny Griffin and Bob Bellingrath and end David Popwell turned in fine defensive work for Charlie Hall's losers, now 2-1 on the season.

Pruitt Leads Comeback With Two 2nd-Quarter TDs

Special to The Constitution

ROSWELL—Milton High scored two touchdowns in the second quarter to overcome a 6-0 deficit and went on to defeat neighborhood rival Roswell, 28-12, in a non-region clash of unbeatens here Friday night.

Underdog Class B Roswell drew first blood in the first period, when halfback Joe Stewart carried 17 yards of a 21-yard drive and scored from the one.

But the visitors bounced back on two trips to paydirt by Jerry Pruitt. He tied the score, going in from the 44.

Early in the third Milton struck again, but game Roswell fought back. Jerry Sullivan, who passed for 49 yards for the losers, pulled his teammates within nine points, before Milton iced it.

TV MATCHES SLATED FOR PEACHTREE CLUB

Some of the nation's top pro golfers will participate in All-Star Golf TV matches to be filmed at Atlanta's Peachtree Golf Club starting Oct. 3.

Five matches will be played here in all with the filming scheduled to be completed Oct. 7.

Bobby Jones, as spokesman for the club, said Friday that the club's board of directors was influenced in making the arrangements by a desire to give the golfers of Atlanta an opportunity to watch the top pro players in action.

Parking on the club grounds will be restricted to club members and their families.

Blackburn Leads Way In Smyrna's Victory

By MAC CHAPLIN

Freshman Johnny Blackburn expertly stepped into the shoes of injured quarterback, Jimmy Pitts, and directed Campbell of Smyrna to a 21-14 triumph over Cherokee of Canton, Friday night.

Brother to state gridiron great, Don Blackburn, the 130-lb. general displayed remarkable aptness in handing off to hard-driving backs Ron Morris, Raymond Duncan, Dixie Howell and Bob Carson.

He threaded the needle for Carson's 28-yard score in the second quarter and scored the winning margin on a 14-yard keeper sweep.

It was Blackburn who called on Morris six out of seven times for the cushion score in a nip-and-tuck contest with Cherokee first stalemating, then coming within one point of the Smyrnans.

Westminster Blanks Panthers

By POOCHIE HARTSFIELD

A strong running team, triggered by Dave Drake, Peyton Robinson, and Steve Selig, carried the Westminster Wildcats to a 20-0 Region 2AA win over the Sandy Springs' Panthers Friday night at Westminster.

The Wildcats of Charlie Brake scored the first time they had possession of the ball, moving 74 yards in eight plays. Halfback Selig, who had 50 yards in six carries for the night, ate up 40 yards on the drive.

Fullback Drake went over from the one, and the Wildcats had a 7-0 halftime lead.

Taking a second half kick-off, Westminster ran two plays and then Drake broke loose right up the middle for 50 yards and six points.

Robinson, used sparingly because of a sprained ankle, set up the final TD with a 62-yard burst to the Sandy Springs six. Two plays later he rammed over from the three for the score.

Sandy Springs' quarterback Woody Hinkle, a thorn in the Westminster side all night, led the deepest penetration for the Panthers, which carried all the way to the Wildcats' 16. On fourth down, Henkle, who ran up 42 yards on 11 carries, was stopped inches short of a first down.

End Clane Crocker and guard Roger Smith led the Sandy Springs defense while guard Laurie Croft and end Pat Hodgson stood out defensively for Westminster.

Astrological Forecast

By CARROLL RIGHTER

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Hold steady to what you know is proven. Wait for desirable changes.

Aries (March 21 to April 19). Be neutral in any altercation. Keep busily occupied. Taurus (April 20 to May 20). Carry out any promises you have made. Gemini (May 21 to June 21). Smile and handle it wisely.

Moon children (June 22 to July 21). Maintain security, no matter what the sacrifice. P.M. assist a troubled close tie. Leo (July 22 to Aug. 21). Maintain equilibrium. Don't take chances. Virgo (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22). Get necessary and important duties behind you. Work.

Libra (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22). Be loyal to an ally. Scorpio (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21). Be sure you use all that fire of enthusiasm and do what you planned. Sagittarius (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21). Stick to that fine friend who has your interests at heart and is very thorough and meticulous.

Capricorn (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20). Stick to whatever duties are of prime importance today. Aquarius (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19). Delve into new interests today. Don't permit dull chores to bog you down. Pisces (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20). A smiling exterior could be the means by which you relieve a rather difficult condition.

Mail Pay Raises Near for Rails

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Post Office Department has notified the Interstate Commerce Commission it will not oppose mail pay increases for Eastern and Southern railroads estimated to yield them about $17.5 million additional revenue a year.

If the ICC approves pending proposals for raising the mail transportation rates, Eastern railroads will get an 8 per cent increase worth $11,680,000 annually and the Southern lines a 13 per cent increase worth $5,850,000 a year.

Reds Hit Akihito Visit

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist China charged Friday that Japanese crown Prince Akihito's visit to the United States "reflected the intention of U.S. imperialists and Japanese militarists for collaboration."

Last Train from Atlanta

Rebels and Yanks Traded Comforts

By A. A. HOEHLING

"All last night the Yankees kept up a constant shelling of the city," reported The Daily Intelligencer on Aug. 18.

"The firing was steady and our batteries replied regularly during the night, but as daylight approached the cannonading on both sides became more furious,. . .

"Last night about 10 o'clock there was very heavy skirmishing on the left, which lasted for about two hours. The casualties on our side were very light, but are supposed to have been very heavy on the enemy's side. These beautiful moonlight nights are splendid for sharpshooting and skirmishing, and there is more or less skirmishing going on all along our lines every night.

. . . "Everybody, both soldiers and citizens, are anxious for the big fight to take place, and when it does come, Sherman will suffer the greatest defeat that any Yankee General has suffered during the war. The longer the battle is delayed the stronger Atlanta will be."

REGULAR SIEGE

Not a day had gone by, it seemed to David Conyngham, without skirmishing, artillery duels, assault and repulse, all making up the amalgam of a "regular siege." The rather short, good-natured Federal soldier-correspondent wrote:

"It was no unusual thing to see our pickets and skirmishers enjoying themselves very comfortably with the Rebels, drinking bad whiskey, smoking and chewing worse tobacco, and trading coffee and other little articles.

"The Rebels had no coffee, and our men had plenty, while the Rebels had plenty of whisky; so they very soon came to an understanding. It was strange to see these men, who had just been pitted in deadly conflict, trading, and bantering, and chatting, as if they were the best friends in the world. They discussed a battle with the same gusto they would a cock-fight, or horse-race, and made inquiries about their friends, as to who was killed, and who not, in the respective armies.

. . . "In those improvised truces, the best possible faith was observed by the men. These truces were brought about chiefly in the following manner. A Rebel, who was heartily tired of his crippled position in his pit, would call, 'I say, Yank!'

" 'Well, Johnny Reb,' would echo from another hole or tree.

"I'm going to put out my head; don't shoot.'

" 'Well, I won't.

"The Reb would pop up his head; the Yank would do the same.

" 'Hain't you got any coffee, Johnny?'

" 'Na'r a bit, but plenty of rotgut.'

" 'All right; we'll have a trade.'

BARTERING MART

"They would meet, while several others would follow the example, until there would be a regular bartering mart established. In some cases the men would come to know each other so well, that they would often call out,—

" 'Look out, Reb; we're going to shoot,' or 'Look out, Yank, we are going to shoot,' as the case may be.

Conyngham, like other correspondents and many of the troops, became increasingly convinced that Sherman had but one objective — the railroad south of Atlanta.

"Right before us," he wrote, "within a few miles of our lines, almost within reach of our guns, runs this great life artery of the Rebel city. Once cut this jugular vein and Atlanta speedily falls. Sherman knew this well, and therefore turned all his attention to it; the Rebels knew it well, and therefore were exceedingly vigilant and active to resist all our attempts upon it. They left their strong works to be guarded by the militia and conscripts, and followed up our movements with the utmost promptness and daring. It was evident now that the battle would not come off before Atlanta. Perhaps Sherman could take it by direct assault; but we had learned that assaults were always costly, even when successful. Sherman was cautious and wary, pushing his skirmishers everywhere, beating all bushes, and suspicious nooks and dells. Hood, on the other hand, was watchful to counteract any movement of his wily foe. It was a great game of chess. Hood had castled, and Sherman moved to checkmate him."

DESOLATE CITY

"The city is very desolate. There are few people remaining who could get away, and almost every house bears marks of the vengeance of the ruthless enemy. The streets are deserted, the homes desolate and abandoned except by the casual denizens. All in all it is as sad as a ruin, and deserted as an ancient city of the plain," reported the Daily Intelligencer.

"The enemy shelled the center of the city steadily last night. McDaniel's warehouse on Hunter street between Pryor and Whitehall was destroyed by fire this morning at 5 o'clock. Five hundred bales of cotton were consumed."

Contributing to the combustible quality of Atlanta was a new menace — quantities of tobacco and cotton stored in attics and back parlors as well as warehouses. Almost everyone had begun irrational hoarding of these commodities, even though they knew such stocks would be valueless if Atlanta fell.

Before noon on Aug. 24, Gen. Howard informed Sherman that "a fire seems to be raging in Atlanta, direction 10 degrees south of east from my tree. Can see heated air rising in dense columns; seems to be spreading; town is filled with smoke. I have directed my heavy guns to fire on the town."

At 3:30 p.m. he communicated again: "Fire reported spreading in Atlanta." And at 4:00 p.m.: "It broke out in rear of large block. Eighteen box and one passenger cars arrived, empty."

Gen. Sherman, returning at 7:15 p.m. from a horseback inspection of the Chattahoochee pontoon bridge "to see in person that it could be properly defended by the single corps proposed to be left there for that purpose," wired Gen. Halleck in Washington:

"Heavy fires in Atlanta all day, caused by our artillery. I will be all ready, and will commence the movement around Atlanta by the south, tomorrow night, and for some time you will hear little of us. I will keep open a courier line back to the Chattahoochee bridge, by way of Sandtown. The Twentieth Corps will hold the railroad bridge, and I will move with the balance of the army, provisioned for 20 days."

RHYME A DAY

By OLLIE REEVES

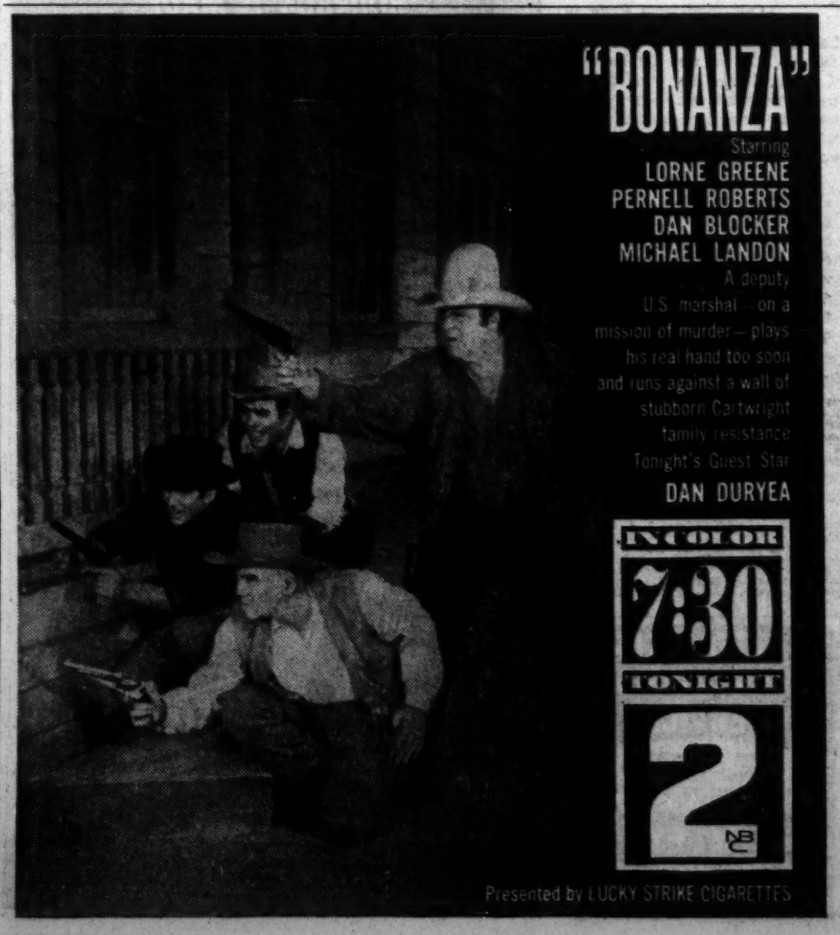

"Sthulmeyer, still bitter about the double cross of his erstwhile friend, Connor, committed a felony in order to get into the prison where Connor was confined in order to kill him."—Detective magazine quote.

Revenge is sweet, but soon the taste . . . Turns bitter as the bitterroot . . . And those indulging in it waste . . . Their efforts in a vain pursuit . . . But it's a poison that can kill . . . You quicker than a rattlesnake . . . Or leave you with a lasting ill . . . That keeps you painfully awake.

Revenge: It is as old as Cain . . . Who got himself "into a jam" . . . He left his younger brother slain . . . And left the country "on the lam" . . . According to what some have said . . . He took a monkey for his wife . . . And if he did, he must have lead . . . A very "monkey-business" life.

But, never mind old brother Cain . . . What we are trying hard to say . . . Is, giving other people pain . . . By no means is the better way . . . They'll have enough, without your aid . . . For trouble comes to everyone . . . And all of us will be repaid . . . For all the naughty things we've done.

(Now, having preached enough, my friend, let us bring this to an end).

Lodge Leads Off Candidate Interviews

By THE TV SCOUT

BEST BET—The Campaign and the Candidates begins what it hopes will be four consecutive weeks of interviewing, informally, the four presidential and vice presidential candidates and their wives.

To start with, Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and Mrs. Lodge get the treatment. Husband and wife are interviewed separately and roughly three-quarters of the program will be devoted to the man, the balance to the woman. In this case, Lodge's portion was made this morning in a New York studio, with the Republican vice presidential candidate talking with Chet Huntley and David Brinkley.

Mrs. Lodge was visited in her Beverly, Mass., home on Sept. 10, again by Huntley and Brinkley. Her portion is a friendly chat, non-political, in the living room. She proves to be a gracious, intelligent woman in one of her rare TV appearances. 9:30-10:30 (Ch. 2).

11:45 a.m. (Ch. 11)—This week's game focuses on two always-interesting teams. Michigan State and Pittsburgh, meeting in Pit Stadium.

7:30-8:30 (Ch. 2)—Dan Duryea, than whom there are few more deliciously evil, is up to his old tricks again on Bonanza Saturday. He's supposedly on the side of the law, but if you know Duryea, you know that won't last long. He turns out to be one of those gun-happy deputies, and the Cartwrights draw his ire as well as fire. Duryea, who lives in New York, comes out to Hollywood and does films in bunches, on this trip, he made this Bonanza, a Laramie, a Shirley Temple and a Jack Benny. It helps defray expenses.

Take Away Study Stress With A Hobby

Too much studying and no outside activities can make Jack a dull boy. Even the Trampoline craze doesn't take enough tension out of a studious mind.

What everybody needs—especially teen-agers—is a hobby. And one of the best and lasting hobbies a girl or boy can have is photography.

Photography can be as expensive as you want to make it. And as long as there is a commercial market for photographs (although it isn't always constant) you may be able to sell some of your work to buy new and better equipment.

Some of the best pictures in newspapers and magazines have been made by amateur photographers who happened to be at the right place the right time.

Professional photographers advise beginners to start with the simplest of equipment, a box camera.

One of the most interesting ways to get started in photography is to make a pinhole camera—the simplest kind of camera. This is like building your own crystal radio. By beginning with a pinhole camera you'll be starting with the absolute fundamentals without a lot of confusing devices.

WATCH YOUR FINGERS!
Donna Hilgemann Poses

The pinhole camera is made from a few pieces of cardboard with a pinhole in one end for a lens. Since there is only one film—not eight or 12 as in other cameras—you must learn to make it count.

Directions for making a pinhole camera can be found in a book entitled "Elementary Photography" by Neblette, Brehm and Priest.

NOT THE CHEAPEST

If you're going to buy a camera to begin your hobby photographers advise that you not buy the very cheapest piece of equipment but not the most expensive either.

When you master your hobby you can buy a more expensive camera. There are a lot of good used cameras in the upper price range available.

Proper care and normal use of a good camera should last for many years. Professionals suggest you start with a camera that has the set focus and one shutter speed. Also follow the manufacturers' recommendations on the camera and film.

BIGGEST FAULT

The biggest fault photographers make, professionals say, is camera movement. Shutter speeds will not compensate for camera movement. The squeeze movement—like firing a rifle—should be used for sharp pictures. If you have an unsteady hand try putting the camera on a solid surface or a tripod.

The quality of your equipment will limit the action you can snap. Simple cameras produce good results when light is adequate and there is little movement by the subject.

Different angles always make a more interesting photograph. Look at your subject from several angles before deciding to snap the shutter.

Try to avoid clutter in your photographs. Get simple backgrounds and be careful not to distort your friends by putting their feet in the foreground of the picture.

One final reminder — keep your fingers off the lens. There's nothing like having a magnified finger in the corner of that otherwise good shot.

Get books on photography from the library and read the photography magazines for better picture tips.

Nearly Half Unwed Mothers Are Teens

Illegitimate births have set a new record in the United States, with 40 per cent of the unwed mothers teen-age girls.

By 1962, if the rate is constant, between 110,000 and 120,000 babies will be born out of wedlock to teen-age girls.

Dorothy Ricker

These Boys Like To Kiss But Tell More

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

We are three 16-year-old girls who would like to know why so many boys exaggerate about what goes on during a date. The particular boys we have in mind are nice except when it comes to talking about their dates. For example, when they take us out we let them kiss us good-night.

But, we've heard stories they have told their friends about necking and petting with us all evening! It's gotten to the point where we are worried about our reputations. Boys we have never dated ignore us because of the stories these boys have told. We are losing our baby-sitting jobs for this reason. The things these boys are telling definitely are NOT TRUE. Please suggest something we can do.

THREE UPSET GIRLS.

DEAR GIRLS:

Boys who lie about a girl's behavior are at the bottom of the heap, as dates. In fact, a boy who would ruthlessly hurt a girl's reputation to make himself appear to be an 'irresistible lover' with his buddies is a real pipsqueak!

Why you have dated these boys after hearing the FIRST untrue story they told about you is beyond me.

You should tell the boys in no uncertain terms that you know what they have been saying and refuse to go out with them.

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

We are in the seventh grade and we know a boy in the ninth grade who is a living doll. We've all tried to get him but haven't succeeded. We also know a real cute ninth grade girl who likes him a lot and we have been hoping they would go together. Instead, he is going with another girl. We think this is real mean of him and we want to do something about it. Do you know what we should do?

ELLEN, CHRIS, SHANNON AND TERI.

DEAR GIRLS:

Yes, I know what you should do—stop behaving like a lot of busybodies and let this "living doll" live his own life—and choose his own girl! Why should you think he is "mean" simply because he dates a girl of his own choice? Better think it over. Would you want him to dictate your choice of friends?

DEAR MRS. RICKER:

I have been dating a boy for six months, but we are not goings steady. His birthday is coming up soon and I would like to get him a $10 photography kit. Is that too expensive a girl for just a nice boy friend? I doubt if he can afford to pay that much for a gift for me, and I've heard that a girl can lose a boy by giving him something he considers too expensive. Please tell me soon if you think it would be wise to buy this gift for him.

"JUST ME."

DEAR J. M.:

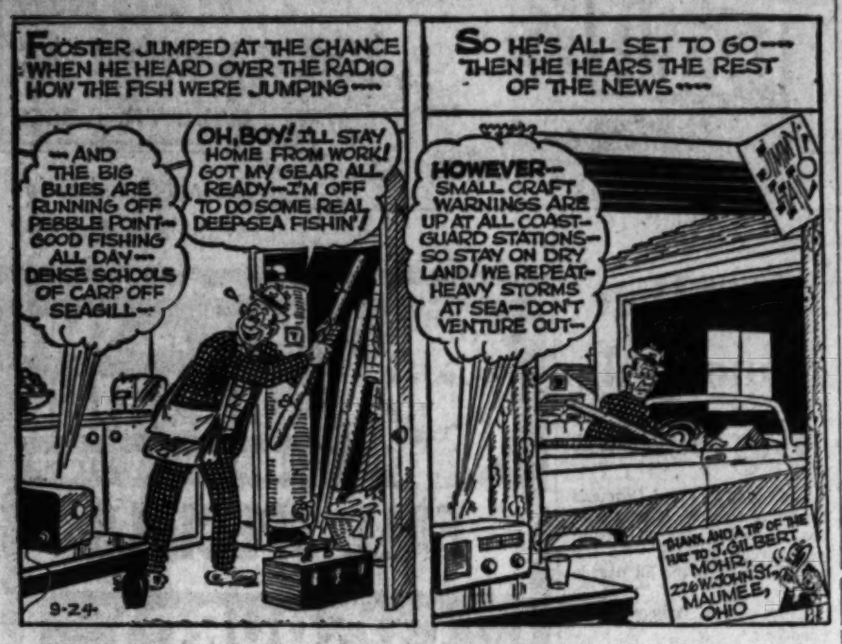

It is quite possible you will put this boy in an embarrassing position by giving him a present which he cannot match—in dollars and cents—when your birthday comes around. The old cliche about "it's the thought that counts, not the cost of the gift" is fine and should hold true, but many people do not feel that way about gifts. It would be much wiser to give the boy a less expensive present, something under $5 for example. If his hobby is photography, I am sure you can find something in that line which will please him but will be less costly.

THE PHANTOM

Evaluate Yourself, Adoptive Parents Urged by Workers

By JEAN ROONEY

"There are no pop visits. We don't look under the bed."

Miss Sterling Johnson, adoption director for the Child Service Assn. was speaking half-jokingly but hitting a sensitive spot with potential adoptive parents.

The slim, earnest social worker was spelling out the steps for adopting a child through Child Service, a Community Chest agency that serves Fulton, DeKalb and Cobb counties.

Second in a series

"We don't spy or snoop. We just want to find the exact parents the baby needs," she summed up the investigative or "evaluation" process that precedes adoption.

Her best news is that couples can now secure a child within four to six months after their application is accepted.

A full staff operating efficiently at the social agency and more children being placed through agency channels has caused the speed-up.

INFORMAL INTERVIEWS

Much informality and privacy goes with the interviews that potential parents undergo at Child Service, which is housed in a homey old mansion at 44 11th St., NE.

"They are let-down-the-hair sessions for sharing ideas," Miss Johnson emphasized, "and comfortable and relaxed."

First step for the would-be parents is a telephone call to the agency to settle preliminary requirements as to age and length of marriage. The couple is invited to an evening group meeting, held with several other couples.

START EVALUATING

A staff member explains the adoption procedure.

"But mainly we want to start the adoptive parents evaluating themselves as good parents," the soft-spoken social worker said.

How sound is their marriage? Are the husband and wife adjusted enough in their own life to take a third person? Do both parties want a child?

"Some couples rule themselves out immediately. They're scared of the responsibility. Others delay. Some make an appointment right then to continue the interviews," she said.

Underlying a parent's eagerness for a child, the agency workers have discovered, is the still deeper psychological blow of childlessness. Neither can be treated lightly or quickly.

INDIVIDUAL INTERVIEWS

The next step is an individual interview, an hour-long meeting of the couple with a staff worker, again at the agency office.

They go deeper into questions from the group meeting, like:

1. The basis of childlessness.
2. Feeling about out-of-wedlock birth.
3. Experience with their friends who have adopted children.

"They still haven't signed anything or committed themselves," Miss Johnson continued. "We just want to start them thinking through this big step."

DOCTOR'S STATEMENT

Meantime the prospective parents must get a doctor's statement on the basis for their childlessness. This is a basic requirement.

He must be sure that pregnancy is unlikely or impossible.

Finally, though it's a just a matter of days, the preliminaries begin to materialize. The couple fills out "the blue form," a simple vital statistics questionnaire, going generally into employment and income.

"We have no minimum income requirement, just so it is adequate to support the family when it adds a child. We keep the financial phase flexible."

Then the prospective parents go on the Pending List.

The "Home Study" stage follows, a misnomer that means study of the couple's home life and family background rather than visits to the home. Just one of these is included.

For this phase, the couple is assigned a specific staff worker for a series of interviews held individually and as a couple.

The husband-wife interview naturally delves into the family budget.

"We point out the problems and let them wrestle with their budget themselves. They may phone back and say they'd better wait," Miss Sterling said.

Two additional requirements are that a working mother give up her job before she receives the child and that both parents get physical examinations.

Two or three separate interviews are held with the husband and wife, depending on how quickly they "relate."

"We go into important questions that would affect the baby's happiness, like the woman's outside interests, family background and church participation.

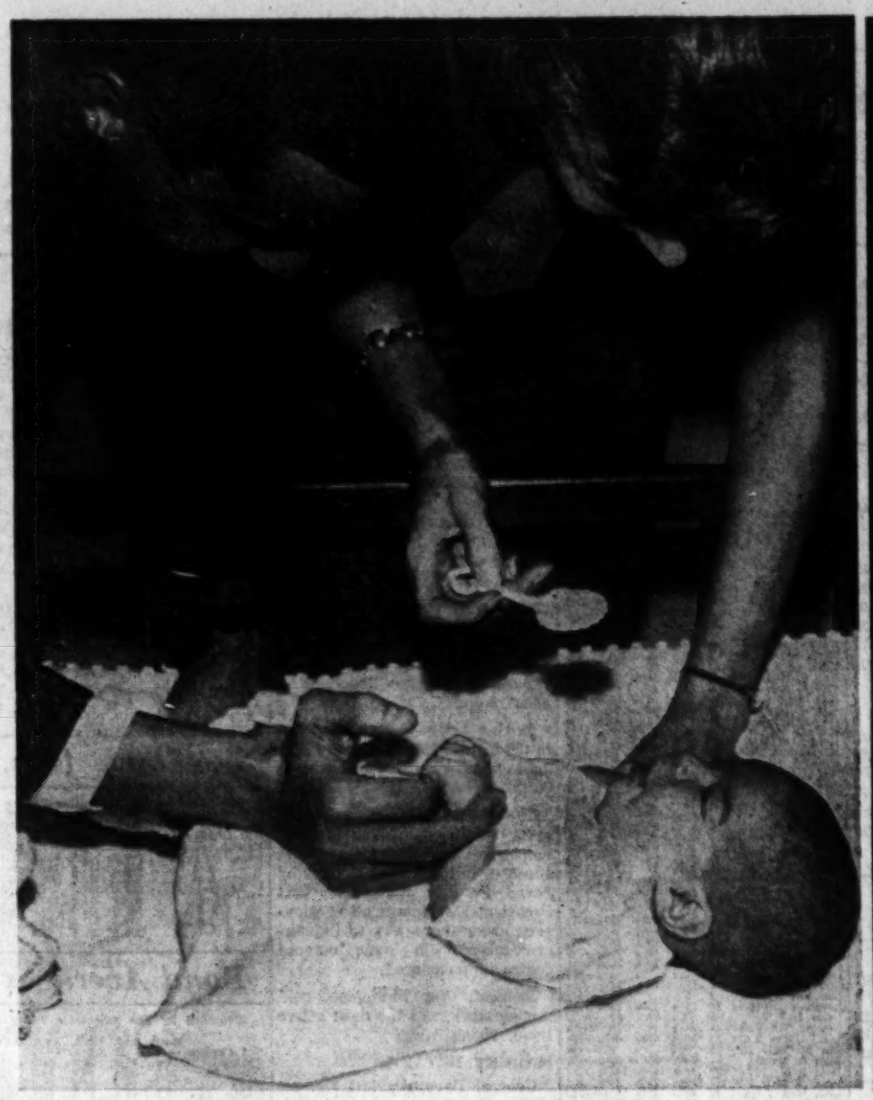

"We don't expect them to have no problems. Rather we want to see how they shared them and solved them," the agency official explained.

The single home visit is made by appointment and follows the same, informal discussion pattern.

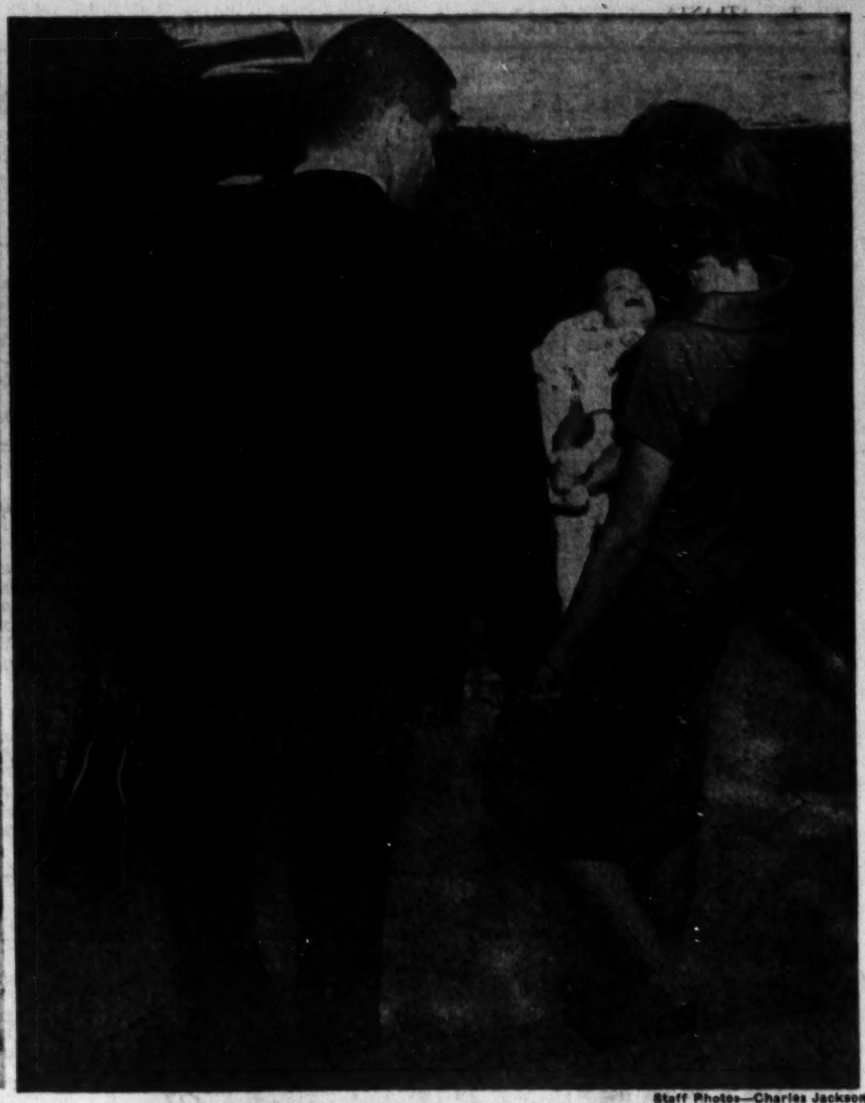

"We may look at the room where they'll put the baby, but we don't peek in closets. It's more important to see the couple at home and relaxed," she said.

A committee of senior staff workers make the final decision from the case worker's written report on the couple.

Canned Foods Will Spark Your Winter Menus

By PATRICIA DEATON
Constitution Food Editor

Glass jars beautifully packed with colorful vegetables and fruits line the stands at the fair each year.

Many times we forget the tasty and convenient foods that would brighten the winter months ahead and not everyone is aware of how easy these foods are to prepare.

Home demonstration agents throughout Georgia help 4-H girls study the correct and easy canning methods.

"These girls learn to retain the bright color," Mrs. Lula Mae Perry of Crisp County said, "simply by cooking in small quantities. In the past, our grandmothers poured sugar over the fruit and cooked it slowly, but now a boiling sirup is poured over the fruit after it is packed into jars. Then follows a hot water bath to process the jars."

Mrs. Perry warned that there should always be two inches of water over the jar.

4-HERS CAN PEACHES

Perhaps canning peaches is one of the biggest jobs in a Georgia homemaker's kitchen, so the 4-Hers undertake this project along with canned beans.

They begin by sterilizing jars.

CANNED PEACHES

Select peaches, wash in cold water to remove any dirt or grit. A salt-vinegar water is prepared by placing 1 tablespoon each of vinegar and salt in ½ gallon of cold water.

Dip peaches in vigorously boiling water, then quickly in cold water. Scald a few peaches at a time so each peach will be completely immersed in the vigorously boiling water. Do not leave in the cold water.

Remove the skins and cut the peaches in halves. Remove the pit and drop in the salt-vinegar solution to prevent discoloration. If the peach is red next to the seed, scrape out with a spoon to prevent discoloration of the sirup.

SIRUP

1¼ cups sugar
2½ cups water

Dissolve sugar in water and bring to a rapid boil. Place peach halves in a colander, rinse in cold water and drain. place drained peach halves in vigorously boiling sirup and allow sirup to come to a rolling boil. Remove from range and allow to set in sirup until cool.

With tongs or a tablespoon, pack the halves in overlapping layers, placing one peach half with round surface up in each corner of the jar with the pointed end toward the outside of jar. Pack the jar as tightly as possible to within ½ inch of top. Adding the sirup as you fill the jar will help reduce the number of air bubbles.

Cover peaches with sirup. Work out air bubles with narrow bladed spatula. Wipe sealing edge of jar with a clean, damp cloth and adjust the lid.

Place in a boiling water bath and be sure that the water is two inches over the tops of the jars. When water reaches the boiling point, start counting processing time. Process pint jars 20 minutes, quart jars 25 minutes. When processing time is up, remove jars and place on a rack or clean towel to cool. Complete seal if you used any lids other than the two-piece metal lids.

CANNING BEANS

Beans must be precooked for canning. Wash them in several waters and lift up out of the water each time so that dirt is washed off. Trim and cut beans 1 inch in length.

Cover beans with boiling water and boil 3 minutes. Pack hot beans loosely to ½ inch of top. Cover with hot cooking liquid, leaving ½ inch space at top of jar. Add salt—1 teaspoon to a quart, ½ teaspoon to a pint.

Remove air bubbles and add more liquid if needed to fill jar to ½ inch of top. Screw lid on firmly.

Have 2 or 3 inches of boiling water in the pressure canner. Place filled jars in the canner. Fasten canner cover tight. Let steam escape from pet cock for at least 10 minutes. Then close pet cock and let pressure rise to 10 pounds.

Process quarts of beans 25 minutes, pints 20 minutes. Regulate heat to keep pressure steady.

Gold Shares Rise; DJI Hits '60 Low

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market sank quietly, reaching a level below the Monday lows. Golds rallied.

The advance of the gold shares, traditional "recession stocks," was a significant earmark of the depressed session.

An estimated $2.9 billion was clipped from the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange.

Golds won trading interest as the gold holdings of the United States government suffered the largest weekly decline for any normal week in about 29 years, putting the treasury's gold holding at its lowest level since April 1940.

Some of the other nonferrous metals also posted gains, along with a scattering of specially situated issues. Bread-and-butter stocks drifted monotonously lower, taking losses of fractions to about 2 points.

Sinking below their closing low in the big Monday break, the Dow Jones industrials dropped 6.95 to 585.20, a low for 1960.

The business and economic news continued dispiriting. The emphasis on disarmament in speeches in the United Nations by Soviet Premier Khrushchev and President Eisenhower offset whatever cheer there was to the aircraft-missiles in some defense contracts announced.

Benguet, the Philippine gold mining stock, was the most active issue, rising ¼.

MARKET DETAILS

General Dynamics lost 3⅜, reacting sharply to a halved dividend.

The golds were up sharply at the start, then clipped their gains, some winding up with losses.

Seagrave's plan to make compact cars apparently fell with a thud on Wall Street. The stock dropped 2⅝.

Van Raalte announced an 80 per cent stock dividend, equivalent to a 9-for-5-split. The stock gained a point.

American Stock Exchange prices also declined.

Corporate bonds were lower.

U.S. government bonds also declined in over the counter dealings.

Sealed bids will be received by the Jekyll Island State Park Authority until 12:00 Noon, Eastern Standard Time, Friday, September 30th, 1960, in Room 124 State Judicial Building, Atlanta, Georgia for furnishing all services, labor and materials necessary for the construction of Paving and Drainage, Recreation Building, at Jekyll Island, Glynn County, Georgia, for the Jekyll Island State Park Authority, according to the drawings, specifications and other contract documents. No bid or modification of bid by telephone or telegram will be accepted.

Drawings, specifications and other contract documents may be obtained on deposit of fifty dollars ($50.00) per set from Fuller & Beckett, Architects, 305 Glenn Building, Atlanta, Georgia. This sum will be forfeited and retained by the Architect if the Contractor fails to submit a bona-fide bid, otherwise, deposit for one set drawings, specifications and other contract documents will be returned in full to the General Contractor if the items are returned in good condition within fifteen days after bids are opened. All deposits for extra sets by General Contractors and sets for Sub-Contractors will be returned less the cost of reproduction if documents are returned in good condition.

Bids must be accompanied by a bid bond, executed by a Surety Company licensed to do business in the State of Georgia, made payable to the Jekyll Island State Park Authority, Atlanta, Georgia, in an amount equal to five percent (5%) of the base bid price. No checks will be accepted in lieu thereof. The successful bidder will be required to furnish a contract and Performance Bond covering performance, labor, materials, etc., acceptable to the Jekyll Island State Park Authority, Atlanta, Georgia in an amount equal to one hundred percent (100%) of the contract price and executed by a Surety Company licensed to do business in the State of Georgia.

The Jekyll Island State Park Authority reserves the right to accept or reject any or all bids and waive all technicalities. No bid may be withdrawn for a period of thirty days after time has been called on date of opening.

Sealed bids shall be addressed to Jekyll Island State Park Authority, 124 Judicial Building, Atlanta 3, Georgia; shall be enclosed in an opaque, sealed envelope marked "PROPOSAL — Paving and Drainage, Recreation Building" and shall bear the bidder's name.
BEN W. FORTSON, JR.
Chairman

BLUEPRINT FOR YOUR SON'S LIFE

GOOD HABITS formed early in life are the foundation stones of sound character development. Parents cannot hand their son such ready-made habits on a silver platter. But fortunately, there is a way ot accomplish this same objective — provide the boy with an opportunity which will enable him to develop the habits himself. The best opportunity exists in newspaperboy training.

A BOY with his own newspaper route develops initiative, tact, thrift, punctuality and friendliness. He learns the tremendous inner satisfaction which can come from serving mankind in a worthwhile endeavor. It's no surprise parents consider newspaperboy training a fine blueprint for their sons' successful future.

GET you son to apply for an Atlanta Journal or Atlanta Constitution newspaper route by completing the form below and mailing it today.

INTERNATIONAL CORPORATION
SEEKING a sales representative with ability to do creative selling to top executives, offers paid retirement, complete insurance program, profit sharing, scholarship opportunity for employes' children, stock purchase option and a guaranteed salary.

WE prefer a man with some sales management experience who feels he could advance on merit, if given the opportunity. In lieu of this experience, we require an applicant to have a minimum of 3 years' specialty sales experience, preferably in the field of intangibles or system sales, with a successful background that will stand a thorough investigation. The product we offer is in the office equipment field and is sold on a system basis.

OUR products are not easy to sell. However, if you feel that you are above average in sales ability and seek a position that will pay in accordance with that ability, an opening exists where you can earn $8,000 to $12,000 a year as a sales representative, with an opportunity to advance to management positions, in the $15,000 to $20,000 range.

IF you feel that you would fit in this category—write in confidence to A. L. Buffat, Area Manager, 1388 Spring St., NW, Atlanta 9, Ga. If you are currently employed, interview can be arranged in the evening or weekend if necessary.
